

Long Siege Looms on Aid Battle

Senate Rejects Committee Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—A long siege appeared ahead today for the $3,817,365,000 foreign aid bill after weathering its first Senate battle enlivened with angry sniping.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen shook his head at the prospects. He envisioned senators "in their red flannel pajamas" sitting with their grandchildren in front of the tree Christmas Day and muttering to themselves: "We didn't finish foreign aid."

No Quick Finish

"It looks like we're in for a long siege," he said.

The Senate inched ahead Friday by rejecting, 46 to 29, a motion by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to send the foreign aid measure back to the Foreign Relations Committee for major surgery.

"The fight has just started," Morse, a leader of the foreign aid revolt, said afterward.

Dirksen, however, called Friday's vote a "pretty good test."

He told newsmen the final bill "will be reasonably close" to the compromise amendment he and Mansfield offered Thursday when they proposed a $385-million reduction in the $4.2-billion bill reported by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Dirksen ridiculed Morse's suggestion that something might be accomplished by a second look by a committee which had the bill since the middle of June and held 18 markup sessions.

Morse's motion would have instructed the committee to report the bill back no later than Nov. 8, Dirksen noted, but then the Senate still would have to deal with a batch of amendments Morse has proposed.

More than 50 proposed amendments await action.

Would Fight Cut
There was one break in leadership ranks. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, assistant Democratic leader, told the Senate Friday night he would fight the proposed compromise cut from $650 million to $325 million in funds for the Alliance for Progress program in Latin America. Humphrey was not in on a huddle at which Mansfield, Dirksen and ranking Republican and Democratic members of the Foreign Relations Committee worked out the compromise in an effort to head off heavier cuts.

Death Overtakes Royalty Hostess

NEW YORK (AP) — Elsa Maxwell, the hostess to royalty whose humble beginning made hers the most unlikely modern-day climb to the top of the international social ladder, died Friday night at the age of 80.

Miss Maxwell succumbed to a heart ailment in New York Hospital a few days after she was taken there a semi-invalid.

Lived Life to Hilt

Her death was noted by the millions from all walks of life who knew and loved her, and by her legions of critics who over the years of her reign as the world's greatest party-giver fell victim to her tart tongue.

Almost to the end Miss Maxwell lived her life to the hilt, having made her last public appearance at the April in Paris Ball in a Manhattan hotel only last week.

She was brought to the ball in a wheelchair.

Death of Newburgh Ferry Service — 1743-1963

$23-Million Span Opening Dooms Hudson River Financial Failure

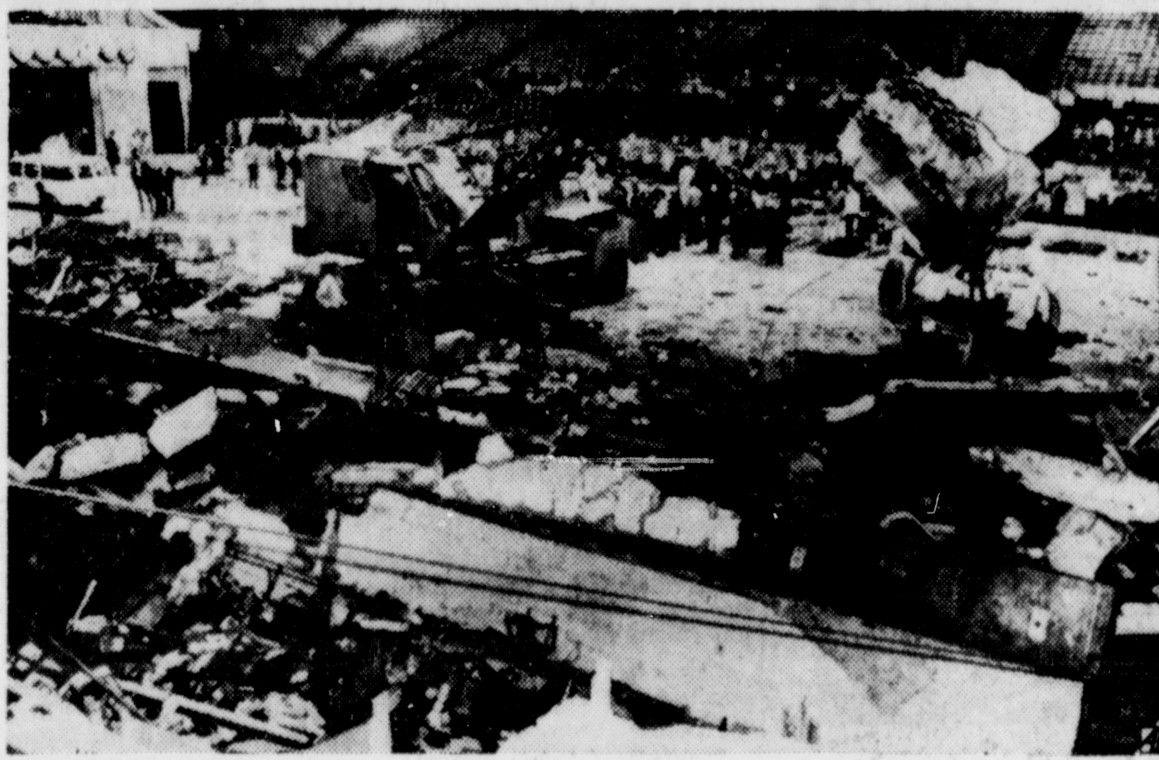

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—With a flat-bottomed dugout and a British crown patent from King George II which cost five shillings a year, Alexander Colden went into the ferry business here in 1743.

This weekend, the business failed.

Gov. Rockefeller today officially opens a $23-million bridge across the Hudson River which doomed the Newburgh-Beacon ferry. It had been a financial failure for a decade or more, the state losing $100,000 on it last year.

For sentimental purposes, one more day of operations is scheduled before the ferry service takes its place with the history in which it played an indispensable role.

Ban Holds in Ulster, 6 More

State Hunters Back In Woods--Not Here

Nimrods in Ulster and six other nearby downstate counties had to toe the mark today as their fellow hunters in the state's remaining counties got the go ahead to move into the woods for game.

The governor's executive ban on hunting — issued on Oct. 13 — was lifted Friday after an ap-

Woman Is Killed, Nine Injured in Dutchess Crashes

One person was killed and nine others injured—one seriously—in three separate traffic accidents today and Friday in the area.

Dead was Mrs. Siegrid Hancox Frances Gregory, 49, of 24 South Cedar Street, Beacon, whose car collided with another about 10:15 p. m. Friday on Route 9D just south of Hugsonville, Town of Wappinger in Dutchess County. She was pronounced dead at the scene.

Beacon Girl Critical
Critically injured was Miss Norma Schner, 17, of 88 North Avenue, Beacon, passenger in the other vehicle involved. She was reported in critical condition in Highland Hospital, Beacon, where she was treated for concussion, face cuts and possible skull fracture.

In fair condition in the same hospital were Joseph Schner, 56, same address, Norma's father and driver of the second car, who suffered rib fractures, left knee cuts and shock, and Mrs. Pauline Schner, her mother, multiple right leg fractures.

State Police at Fishkill substation said that Mrs. Gregory was driving north on Rt. 9D when her car failed to negotiate a right hand curve, crossed into the southbound lane and struck the southbound Schner car head on. Dr. Chester A. Golding, Wappingers Falls; assistant county district attorney Julius Boccia, and the Rev. Walter Kearns of St. Mary's Church, Wappingers Falls, were at the scene. Sgt. A. Lustwyk and Troopers J. Ryan and H. Spielman investigated.

20th County Fatality
It was Dutchess County's 20th traffic fatality of the year.

In the other mishaps: Frank Steinhauer, 26, of Stanfordsville Rd. 1, suffered left knee injuries in a one-car accident about 2:25 a. m. today on Route 199 just east of Academy Hill Road in the Town of Miland.

State Police at Rhinebeck said that he said he would see his own doctor. They said Steinhauer was a passenger in a car driven east on the highway by precipitable amount of rainfall Thursday and Friday nights in the other 55 counties.

Ban Stays in Seven

However, Ulster, Orange, Dutchess, Sullivan, Rockland, Putnam and Westchester Counties were still prohibited from hunting and setting open fires. The fire danger, which resulted in a record number of forest and brush fires last month, was considered still too great in those counties.

State Police said there was insufficient rainfall in the seven area counties to permit lifting of the ban. They emphasized that while hunting is still prohibited, the lighting of open fires is also prohibited under full penalty of the law, until such time as the ban is lifted.

More Rain Pivotal

There was a possibility that the ban would be lifted in one or more of the remaining seven counties later today if there was sufficient rainfall. On the local weather scene, showers were predicted for this afternoon with partly cloudy skies, clearing and colder tonight.

Reopening of the woods in other sections, meanwhile meant opening of the big game season in northern counties and resumption of small-game hunting.

Rain Thursday and Friday ranged from two-tenths of an inch at Binghamton and New York to nearly an inch at Massena, at least for the time being the forest-fire danger. However, it did little to relieve the effects of the month long drought that has left streams, ponds and reservoirs at dangerously low levels. Water supplies remained scanty in many communities.

Rockefeller said Friday that, in the seven counties where the partial ban remained in effect, fishing, duck hunting and other recreational activities would be permitted from boats or blinds entirely surrounded by water, if there is direct access to the water by a road suitable for normal vehicular traffic.

Furries Possible

The Weather Bureau said scattered rain showers would continue today in many sections, possibly turning to snow flurries. Temperatures in the '30s and low 40s were forecast through Sunday.

Owners of hunting camps in northern counties were cheered by the re-opening of the woods, where the big-game season had been slated to open Oct. 25. The big-game season in southern counties is scheduled to open Nov. 18.

Harold G. Wilm, conservation commissioner said that efforts would be made to extend the hunting seasons curtailed by the closing. Details have not been worked out.

18 Families Lost Over 1 In Explosion

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Many people went in family groups to the Holiday on Ice Revue at the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum Thursday night, and at least 18 families lost more than one member in the explosion that killed 64 persons.

One body remained unidentified today.

Fifth is Critical

Four members of the Staten family died, and a fifth remained in critical condition in Marion County General Hospital.

Killed in the blast were Dr. Jesse E. Staten, 50, a General Motors Corp. plant physician in Indianapolis; his wife, Mary, 45; and his mother, Mrs. Lena Staten, 72, Greencastle, Ind. The couple's son, David, 14, died Friday night.

Ten-year-old Barbara Staten was injured critically, and John Staten, 15, the couple's eldest child, also was injured.

A family of eight came from Kokomo to see the ice show. Diem and Nhu had surrendered three of them were killed. They were Mrs. Margaret Worland, 79, and her granddaughters, Ann Margaret Worland, 15, and Susan Worland, 14.

Two other granddaughters and the children's mother, Mrs. Irene Worland, were injured.

Coliseum Locked

State police ordered the Coliseum locked until Monday while the work of removing debris continued.

The sheriff's office today reported fire which was discovered burning Friday in three separate places in the old stone house at May Park, Town of Esopus, was still under investigation. The house is owned by the Salvation Army.

Chief Edward Mains of the Port Ewen fire department has called the fire "arson." The fire is believed to have been smoldering for some time before discovered. The house is unoccupied and closed.

The fire, which was discovered first by children going to school, was not reported to the Port Ewen firemen until 8:20 a. m. Friday when an alarm was sounded. Sheriff's men and fire officials are continuing the investigation.

Diem, Nhu Are Dead; Buddhists in Power

TOKYO (AP)—Military rebels in Viet Nam announced today the death of President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother Nhu, and proclaimed a new government led by Buddhists.

Some accounts filtering from South Viet Nam's capital — where thousands danced joyously in the streets — said the Ngo brothers committed suicide, others that they were shot to death.

Rebels Report Suicide

Suicide was the story broadcast by the rebel-held Radio Saigon.

This terse account, as pieced together by diplomatic sources in Bangkok and in Washington, was that the 62-year-old chief executive and his brother, 52, killed themselves upon being recaptured after once escaping military custody.

A Bangkok diplomat said the two were reported to have swallowed poison on the way to jail in an armored car from a church in Saigon's Chinese quarter where they had taken refuge.

There was no independent confirmation. Some diplomats wondered whether the two would have so breached their Roman Catholic faith as to take that way out, for the church condemns suicide.

Censorship Holds Most

The American Broadcasting Co. (ABC) announced it had received word from its Saigon correspondent that a nervous officer shot the brothers after taking them into custody at the church.

Some news dispatches filtered from Saigon after a long blackout about the 18-hour revolutionary strife, but censorship held back many details.

The victorious generals gave the reins of a provisional government to Nguyen Ngoc Tho, a slender, 55-year-old Buddhist who had served as Diem's vice president since 1956.

Eight-Year Rule
The downfall of the autocratic ruling family followed a day-and-night siege of the presidential palace. A 90-minute dawn tank and artillery attack preceded Diem's capitulation after eight years of rule.

The leader of the coup was Gen. Duong Van Minh, 47, a Buddhist. A civilian and former vice president, Nguyen Ngoc Tho, was named provisional president. As the ranking Buddhist in the Roman Catholic Diem government, he was a leader in the campaign to conciliate South Viet Nam's angered Buddhist majority.

It was Diem's treatment of the Buddhists, capped by the government's August raids on pagodas and ensuing arrests, that marked the country's final disenchantment with him, and his family.

One of the first acts of the new government was to release political prisoners, students and Buddhist monks and nuns imprisoned under Diem and Nhu.

U.S. Reacts Cautiously

In Washington, U.S. officials reacted cautiously to the overthrow of the Diem government, with which the United States has had a running argument in recent months because of the Buddhist crisis.

A State Department spokesman said the United States was in no way involved in Diem's ouster. Military officials, however, said they believe the revolutionary committee of generals has the popular support for an intensified war effort against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The department said the U. S. embassy in Saigon reported after a check of hospitals there that there were no known U.S. casualties, either civilian or military. The report, received today, was made at noon (11 p.m. EST Friday night), after the fighting ceased.

At the height of the battle, little news of the revolt filtered from the city.

The coup began at noon Friday, with an attack on the presidential palace, a stucco building in downtown Saigon. The rebels encountered stiff resistance from Diem's loyal palace guards and his crack 2,000-man detachment of special forces.

As the battle grew more fierce, it became apparent Diem's time was limited.

The rebels halted the attack for three hours, during which they offered Diem and his brother a pledge of safe conduct if they surrendered. They refused, and again the insurgents opened their attack.

As night fell, rebel mortars fired point blank at army headquarters where Diem's palace guard was holed up. By midnight the center was reduced to rubble and tanks rolled in.

By 4 a. m. Saturday, 16 tanks moved in on the presidential palace. For 2½ hours, they fired at the palace.

It was clear Diem, Nhu and their few remaining soldiers (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Ceasefire Is Punctured by Arty Barrage

ALGIERS (AP) — A heavy Algerian artillery barrage erupted along the tense Algerian-Moroccan border at dawn today, several hours after a midnight ceasefire.

Mortar and cannon shells landed in the Figuig oasis on the Moroccan side of the border, and heavy machine-gun fire shattered the early morning quiet.

Will Fire Back

A Moroccan officer in the besieged oasis said he ordered his men to fire back.

"My men observed the ceasefire until attacked," said Col. Mohammed Hadda. He said his men evicted the Algerians from the oasis Friday.

The ceasefire, negotiated at a four-nation conference in Bamako, Mali, earlier this week, went into effect officially at midnight Friday.

Both King Hassan II of Morocco and President Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria promised to observe the truce and allow a commission set up at the Bamako conference to supervise their Sahara border dispute.

Moroccan and Algerian troops remained dispersed along a 550-mile belt of the disputed area in the southwest, to Figuig, 215 miles from Tindouf, an ore-rich town miles south of the Mediterranean.

Exchange Charges
Hours before the midnight deadline, each side accused the other of violating the peaceful spirit of the Bamako conference.

Hassan charged Algeria with attacking Figuig, in the southwest corner of Morocco in a panhandle pointing into Algeria. Ben Bella charged Morocco with attacking women and children with artillery and planes in the Algerian village of Beni Ounif, two miles from Figuig.

The Bamako accord calls for a commission of officers from Algeria, Morocco, Ethiopia and Mali to define the disputed zone from which troops, in theory, would be withdrawn. Ethiopian and Malian troops will police the neutrality of the zone until final settlement.

The next step would be for the 32-nation organization of African Unity to call a meeting of foreign ministers which would appoint a committee to fix the blame for aggression and study the frontier problem and propose solutions.

A Living Doll Reigns

Crown Ohio Brunette Miss Teen-Age U.S.A.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A living Doll-Judy by name—is the new Miss Teen-Age America, but a bubbly sprite from Santa Rosa, Calif., Karen Valentine, was the first television contract.

It was a multiring circus Friday night, with a national TV audience estimated at 40 million in on the fun.

Judy Doll, 17 and a blue-eyed brunette representing Akron, Ohio, was crowned 'teen queen for 1964 by Texas Gov. John Connally.

"I'm just glad to represent you all—and hope I can be a wonderful queen," Judy told the other 49 contestants.

Pixie-like Karen Valentine, 16, captured the audience—as she has everyone this week.

"I've just never seen anyone as cute as that gal," one man said after seeing her shoulder-wiggling and eye-rolling version of "Blame It on the Bossa Nova."

Karen won the talent division of the pageant.

Showman Ed Sullivan telephoned from New York after seeing Karen's act and invited her to his program.

First runner-up to the new teen queen was Jeanine Zavrel,

Boon to War Effort: Capital

Feels Junta to Heal Rift With Buddhists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States expects the new government in South Viet Nam to heal the rift with the country's Buddhist majority and speedily resume the war against the Communist guerrillas.

Officials here believe the revolutionary committee of generals which ousted the Diem regime has the widespread popular support necessary for success of the U.S.-backed war effort.

Reports Many Freed

They contend the removal of President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, stemmed from a conclusion by the Vietnamese army leadership that the Viet Cong could not be defeated under the Roman Catholic-oriented Diem government.

It was noted here that political prisoners, students and Buddhist monks and nuns, imprisoned under Diem and Nhu, were quickly released by the military leaders. This is expected to go far in massing public support for the military regime.

Nguyen Ngoc Tho, a former vice president who was named provisional prime minister, had been leading a campaign to conciliate the Buddhists. He was the ranking Buddhist in the Diem government.

The military group is expected to announce the participation of other civilians who are not only anti-Communist but pro-Western in their thinking.

U.S. officials maintain Washington had no advance warning of the takeover and that the United States had no hand in it.

Seize No Surprise

There was no surprise, however, when the siege of the presidential palace began.

There had been persistent rumors for weeks that a coup would be attempted. But the news of it came dramatically late.

At 3 a.m. Kennedy was awakened to receive the first reports of the fighting in Saigon.

Saugerties Has 1st Conviction On Curfew Law

The first conviction for violation of the Village of Saugerties' three-month-old 10 p. m. curfew was recorded Friday night when a Blue Mountain woman pleaded guilty to a charge of permitting her 15-year-old son unattended on village streets after that hour.

Mrs. Paula Ritchie, of Blue Mountain, paid a $25 fine when she admitted the charge before Police Justice G. Thomas Rea.

Sgt. Gordon Kelley, who issued the citation, said the violation occurred last week. It was the first summons and conviction for the violation since the village ordinance went into effect last Aug. 9.

Under terms of the ordinance, which was passed by the Village Board on July 29, the curfew restricts the unauthorized and attended movements of children under 16 within the village limits. Children of that age thus were prohibited from being on the streets, by-ways and public places in the village unless they are with a parent, guardian or other person having legal custody; are returning from work, or have a permit from an organization authorized to issue permits for events such as an authorized, organized dance party, show or other social function.

Police Chief Harold Mills said the first night of the curfew on Aug. 9 passed practically without incidence. He had high praise for the youth of the community and their parents in cooperating with the curfew. He said there had been only a few isolated cases where the curfew was nearly violated, including some youngsters visiting from out of town were unaware of the ordinance.

Second runnerup was Eileen Melody Speerin, 15, rosy-cheeked charmer from New York City. She danced her strenuous acrobatic ballet in spite of a painful cut and bruised foot which she injured Thursday during rehearsals.

Other semifinalists were blonde Peggy Ann Nielsen, 17, of Seattle, Wash., whose spectacular Samoan fire knife dance was a crowd favorite; Mary Jane Daly, 15, Miami, Fla., who pranced and crowed to the Peter Pan melody, "I Gotta Crow," and honey-blond Marilyn Root, 17, of Shreveport, La., who demonstrated similarities between grandma's Charleston and today's twist.

Talented Organist

Judy's prizes include a four-year-scholarship to a college of her choice, a new car, a trip around the United States, 50 shares of stock in a soft drink company, and cosmetics and clothes.

For her talent, she played a rollicking organ rendition of "The Donkey Serenade."

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

San Blas Island Saga—Part 1

The faith and devotion of a gospel singer, Mrs. George Miller, bore fruit when she befriended Peter Miller, a San Blas Island Indian boy who had been brought by a missionary to the United States for an education.

After the missionary's death, Mrs. Miller assumed the responsibility of helping Peter. She raised money through friends and used her own things to further his schooling. During summers, her home was his. She taught Peter all the hymns she knew which were of great use to him later, and took him to revivals and camp meetings.

In 1932, upon graduating from Vennard College in Iowa, the time came when Peter, to keep faith with his people, his God and his sponsors, returned to the islands as a missionary himself.

As we shall see next week, his service there has been a major fact in the religious life of that remote region.

Church Unity Moves Stir Hopes, Doubts

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

A big hope and a big question mark—focused on the idea of unity—stirs today among the world's churches.

It is "spreading like an irresistible prairie fire," says Lutheran Bishop Hans Lilje of Hanover, Germany.

In opening the session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council, Pope Paul VI said a main aim was the "bringing together of all Christians in unity."

A few weeks earlier, a gathering in Montreal, Canada, of theologians of most Protestant and Orthodox churches around the world declared: "We are on the way to Christian unity."

What Is Framework?
To many people, however, the

District Leader To Give Sermon Nov. 3 at Trinity

REV. GEORGE P. WERNER, superintendent of the Kingston District Methodist Church will speak at Trinity Methodist Church Sunday 11 a. m. His sermon will be Two Sources of Strength. The Sunday service will include an anthem by the junior choir and a junior sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Roy A. Hassel. New members will be received. Sunday afternoon an open house will be held at the parsonage 2 to 5 p. m. All members of the church and Kingston Area Council of Churches Executive Committee may attend.

question arises: Just what would that mean? What organizational framework would it involve? How would it be done?

The fact is that as yet the church leaders do not know precisely. They are probing for the answer.

"We are not yet of a common mind on the interpretation and the means of achieving the goal," says the World Council of Churches, a cooperative body of most major Protestant, Eastern Orthodox and old Catholic churches.

At the same time, the ecumenical — Christian unity — movement has arrived at certain rudimentary premises and guiding standards.

The primary and underlying basis for it all is the undivided Christ and His call and prayer for oneness in Him. "As we come nearer to Him," the world council says, "we come nearer to one another." Urged Pope Paul VI: "May the church be conformed to the living Christ."

The movement also has reached numerous other general principles about the nature of the unity sought.

Unity Not Uniformity
It does not imply simple uniformity of organization, rite or expression, says the world council, adding that it does mean tangible, functional connections.

It is a "manifest or visible unity, not something hidden," said a conference of most American churches.

The Rev. Dr. W. A. Visser 't Hooft of Geneva, Switzerland, the world council's general secretary, says, "We have no more right to say that disunity can be overcome by invisible unity, while we continue to live practically in disunity, than to say that we can overcome our sins invisibly, while we continue to commit them."

On the other hand, he says, "It is a dangerous misunderstanding to think that the only alternative to disunity is a monolithic, centralized and imperialistic super-church, a sort of ecclesiastical leviathan."

There must be diversity in worship patterns, organization and even different forms of area government, he said, but at the same time organic ties of mutual support, intercommunion and mutual recognition of members and ministries.

In a related vein, Pope Paul, in tracing outlines for reunion, says that while the church must have a single corporate government, it must allow "for a great variety of verbal expressions, movements, lawful institutions and preference with regards to modes of action."

Rome traditionally has insisted on more centralized authority than the other churches, and this is a main problem, but the Vatican Council has indicated shifts toward more regional autonomy.

Must Keep Integrity
Another generally accepted principle is that valid reunion must not involve watering down convictions to a least common denominator.

The Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the Lutheran Church in America and head of the world council's central committee, says, "We can't abandon intellectual integrity for the sake of an artificial unity."

Rather, the aim is to deepen and sharpen insights, through mutual interchange, to attain fuller truth, and understanding of it.

At the ancient Benedictine Abbey of St. Matthias, in Trier, Germany, the abbott, the Very Rev. Laurentius Klein, an expert in ecumenics, says there must be "both unity and also multifariousness."

For example he says, in forms of worship, there might be different "Protestant" rites—a Lutheran rite, an Anglican rite, a reformed rite, as long as the essentials are maintained."

Also in theology, he suggests, just as Roman Catholicism already includes various schools of theology, such as Thomist and Augustinian, there might also be typical Lutheran or other theological emphases in one church.

Set Up Like States
Some churchmen have cited the United States, with its differing states, each with its own character and initiatives, yet all part of one nation, as suggestive of the lines of a unified church, with perhaps a "Church of Pennsylvania," a "Church of Oklahoma" and elsewhere.

The world council, in describing the kind of unity sought, offers this broad picture: All Christians in each place being in "one fully committed fellowship, holding the one Apostolic faith, preaching the one gospel, breaking the one bread, joining in common prayers, and having a corporate life reaching out in witness and service to all."

As yet there is no blueprint for achieving it, and immense difficulties remain.

But predominantly, churches seek to make unity in Christ more of a concrete, working reality.

Former Minister Will Preach at Fair St. Church

The Rev. John P. Mullenburg, recently returned to the United States from the Philippine Islands, will be guest preacher Sunday, 11 a. m. at the Fair Street Reformed Church.

The guest speaker served the local church as associate minister with the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley. After resigning his post here the Rev. Mr. Mullenburg was commissioned June, 1942 at the 136th Synod of the Reformed Church in America to serve as a missionary in China under the denomination's Board of Foreign Missions. He attended the University of California where he studied Chinese and Cornell University where he studied agriculture in preparation for work in Kungsu-Amoy in Fukien Province, China. Since 80 to 85 out of 100 Chinese are rural people, it was believed important to be able to interpret one's religious faith in terms of the creative natural process by which they live.

At the conclusion of World War II, in April 1946, the Rev. Mr. Mullenburg was sent to Among. His wife, Virginia, followed the next year. While in China the Rev. Mr. Mullenburg worked with students in the Among National University, assisted in the organization of work camps in rural areas, and prepared indigenous leaders for the imminent arrival of the Chinese Communists who invaded the area in which he was working, capturing the mission station. During a bombing one evening the ceiling in the room where one of his children was sleeping fell to the floor, narrowly missing the sleeping child in the crib. Ten months of struggle under the Communists led to a perilous escape one night in 1950 in a "blockade runner."

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Mullenburg returned to the states for two years, and then were assigned work with the overseas Chinese in Dumagerete Negro Oriental in the Philippine Islands. There he worked with the United Church of Christ, implementing an organic merger of five different denominations. A continual added job was that of fostering closer relationships between the Filipinos and the Chinese.

Chaplain to Speak At 1st Presbyterian

Major E. A. Raynis, assistant post chaplain at the United States Military Academy, West Point, will be the guest preacher at Kingston's First Presbyterian Church Sunday, Nov. 10.

Chaplain Raynis will deliver a sermon, The Works of God's Hands, at the 11 a. m. worship service. He will also speak to the Sunday school at 9 a. m.

Because of his influence in the area of church missions, the Rev. Mr. Mullenburg was elected as one of the four directors of the Southeast Asia Road project, centered on the campus of Silliman University and while at the university had a special ministry to the Chinese students enrolled. After five years stay at Silliman University he, his wife and family lived in Hong Kong and worked with the refugees fleeing the Communist territory. He also taught in Chung Chi Christian University during this time.

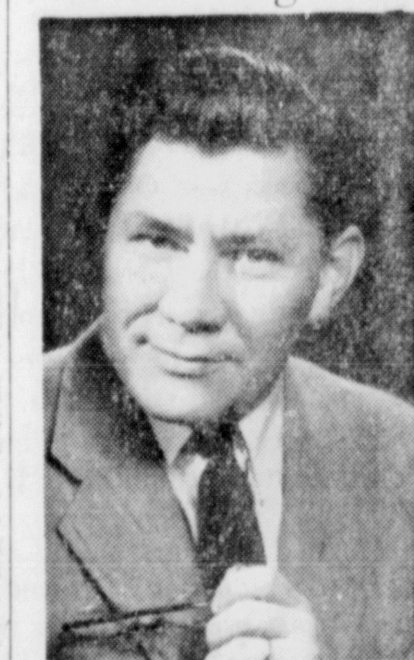

Boston Pastor Speaks Sunday at Immanuel Church

Reformation will be observed at Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, 22 Livingston Street at 8 and 10:30 a. m. services.

The Rev. Paul Brauer of First Lutheran Church, Boston, Mass., will be guest speaker. He is the brother of Mrs. Carl J. Goette, wife of the pastor, and preached at the installation service of the Rev. Mr. Goette two years ago. The pastor will conduct the services. Charles Brand will be organist for the first service and Mrs. Robert Greene will be organist at 10:30 a. m.

There will be special selections by the choir including Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus, and special church decorations in observance of the Reformation.

Historian Will Speak at Ridge Church Program

KENNETH E. HASBROUCK of New Paltz, well known area historian, will be guest speaker Sunday 4 p. m. at 225th anniversary program of the Marbletown Reformed Church, Stone Ridge. The historic church also is observing its anniversary with a dinner Thursday and special services next Sunday, Nov. 10. The public may attend the History Day service Sunday. A display of historical documents and mementos arranged by Alberta Davis will be on exhibit at the church.

Morning Meditations

Morning Meditations are conducted by the Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday over Radio Station WGHQ, at 6:25 a. m. The speaker for next week will be the Rev. Donald Moreland of Catskill.

LOGICAL MILITARY MOVE

The success of Operation Big Lift, which catapulted the Second Armored Division from Texas to Germany in such a rush, naturally gives rise to speculation about U.S. plans for its overseas forces. There is good reason to believe that this giant airlift presages a shift in our broad policy on the number and kind of U.S. troops to be stationed abroad.

Such a shift must come gradually. Any hint of a reduction of ground troop strength in Europe, especially, gives rise to deep concern among our allies. This is true in greatest measure, and for obvious reasons, of West Germany. The worried reaction of the Bonn government to a recent speech on the subject by Deputy Defense Secretary Gilpatric showed how seriously the Germans regard talk of troop removal.

Defense officials have assured Bonn that no reduction in U.S. troop strength in Europe is planned for the next year and a half. Even so, the government of West Germany was plainly nervous after Gilpatric's trial balloon statement that defense planning was entering a new phase which would lead to "a series of evolutionary changes in the composition, and disposition" of overseas units. To Bonn, that means cutting troop strength in Europe, and Bonn does not like the idea.

The truth is that a gradual policy change has been under way for some time. Soon after Secretary McNamara took office, he ordered a sizeable increase in global airlift capacity. Along with that, heavy equipment began to be pre-positioned at overseas bases to allow airlift troops to move into action promptly.

This is a logical response to changing conditions. If we can send large masses of troops anywhere in the world in a matter of hours, there is clearly less need to maintain big forces overseas. But Bonn will take a lot of convincing.

A TOPIC FOR NATO

Our successful airlift of an entire combat division, completely equipped, from Texas to Western Europe will have an important bearing on the conference of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at Paris in December. Whether the experiment will lead to a decision to cut back our standing forces in Germany remains to be seen. Certainly this question will be discussed.

One objective of the project was to demonstrate the feasibility of our reliance on fast airlifts to trouble spots, rather than on the maintenance of such large garrisons abroad. Secretary McNamara says no cut-back has yet been decided on. But reliable reports suggest that at the NATO session he will be ready to lay it on the line to our allies: Our 250,000-man force in Germany will be sharply reduced unless other NATO nations start meeting their commitments more fully.

Such a warning is justifiable. Some of our allies note that unfavorable weather might prevent us arriving at any given hot spot fast enough, but this argument has little substance. The nations represented in NATO have a combined population which totals roughly the same as the U. S. population. They are formidably equipped. They are at the scene. To contend that they could not stage off any Russian invasion until we got there, even if it took us much longer than the time required for Operation Big Lift, is not realistic.

Maintenance of forces abroad to replace those we withdraw may strain the economy of Western European nations somewhat. But our own economy is not being helped by the extra drain of maintaining an unequal share of the burden, either. If we are to be Europe's defensive mainstay, Europeans should be interested in U. S. economic soundness, as well as in their own.

Those new two-piece sweaters are quite a thing, all right. And we predict the next campus giddiness will be seeing how many lads can be crammed into one.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE WILLFUL MEN ARE STILL AT IT

Whenever I hear that this country is threatened with the bogymen of legislative "conformity," my thoughts go wandering to the two states of Oregon and Wisconsin. For better or worse they can always be counted on to provide the nation with effective mavericks. Back in the early Nineteen Hundreds Oregon contributed William U'Ren, father of the initiative, the referendum and the recall, to the progressive movement of the day. And in Wisconsin there was Fighting Bob La Follette. His seat in the Senate was later occupied by his son, Young Bob, who was followed in turn by Joe McCarthy, a Republican maverick of a different breed.

U'Ren, La Follette and his son, and Joe McCarthy, are gone, but the old yeast still works in Oregon and Wisconsin. And as President Kennedy sits on the anxious seat, waiting for the U. S. Senate to pronounce on civil rights and the tax cut, the two Administration "mavericks" for the session, he must wish in his heart that the mavericks of those two unconventional states would learn a little discipline and tell their chronically dissident senators where to head in.

Specifically, the two men who are threatening to poleaxe the whole Kennedy program in the Senate are, respectively, Oregon's Wayne Morse and Wisconsin's William Proxmire, both nominal Democrats. It is not that either Morse or Proxmire necessarily wishes to keep the Senate from passing on the two measures that are closest to Kennedy's heart. They just happen to have the bit between their teeth on this business of foreign aid. Though they are members of the traditionally high-spending party, they are out to sustain the House's insistence that the President's $4.2 billion foreign aid bill be cut to $3.5 billion.

Morse in particular is on the rampage, criticizing the President's proposed authorization bill as "a body blow to the most vital defense weapon the American people possess: namely, their own economy." The bill, he says, is the "same old snow job," a welter of "meaningless compromises that will produce another year of bloated, wasteful, uneconomic and in many ways dangerous foreign aid."

This, indeed, is a "new Morse," talking a language which, the day before yesterday, would have been called reactionary or worse. Coming from a "progressive" who once deserted the Republican Party for the Democratic because he couldn't take his enforced association with Neanderthals, it seems piquant, to say the least. But, as with Proxmire's conversion to fiscal sanity, it is quite in the Oregon-Wisconsin tradition of always supplying the unexpected.

When Morse gets his teeth into something, he hangs on like a bulldog. And if he chooses to filibuster against the Administration's insistence that $4.2 billion be authorized for foreign aid, the President can say good-bye to a civil rights bill or a tax cut this year. Morse has filibustered before: in July of 1954, he spoke for twelve hours and twenty-two minutes against an Atomic Energy bill, and in April of 1953 he broke Huey Long's record for long-distance senatorial oratory by holding out for twenty-two hours and twenty-six minutes against the Tidelands Oil bill. Since he has had only a few supporters in his maverick past, Morse's filibusters have not made the impression which he intended. But this time, for purely fortuitous reasons, a Morse filibuster might turn out to be particularly damaging. Southern Senators who ordinarily disagree with Morse could go along with a marathon discussion of foreign aid cuts merely to put off consideration of civil rights.

The situation becomes more complicated, and more indicative of possible trouble, because of Senator J. W. Fulbright's distaste for committing himself on civil rights. Fulbright, as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, supports the President's $4.2 billion foreign aid bill. But his advocacy has not been particularly spirited. Conceivably he might welcome a filibuster on foreign aid in order to stave off the necessity of coming to grips with the civil rights issue.

Meanwhile, Proxmire hovers in the background. He is a pretty good long-distance speaker, too. Back in August of 1961 he surpassed Morse by holding the floor of the Senate for twenty-six hours and forty-two minutes to oppose the nomination of Lawrence O'Connor, a Texas oil man, to the Federal Power Commission.

If Morse and Proxmire begin to put anti-foreign aid speeches back to back, and if they continue their will to obstruct when it comes to matching authorizations with appropriations, Congress will never get to the Presidential "musts." (Copyright, 1963, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The Mature Parent We No Longer 'Put Away'

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
My brother, 35, is a mental defective who must be cared for like a baby. Nobody ever dares mention institutionalizing him to my mother who still looks after him, still refuses to face his condition as she refused to face what it did to my childhood and my father's life. Since my father's death all she can talk about is what will happen to my brother after she is gone. My husband says she expects us to take him into our home.

ANSWER: You won't, I think. When the time comes your protecting feelings will have crystallized into a clear resolve to institutionalize your brother.

Now, I want to remind you that institutionalizing a severely retarded person today is not what it was 32 years ago.

Back then parents could not face institutionalizing a child like your brother because the facing demanded more than flesh and blood could stand. They had not only to face his permanent helplessness. They had also to face the probability that committing him to the care of strangers would expose him to abuse. So they tried to pretend that the defective condition did not exist. Like your mother, they chose to enslave their lives to care of the afflicted child in preference to a freedom made useless by intolerable imaginings. Their choice was, I think, understandable.

Today, it is different. A visit to an institution like Connecticut's Southbury Training School ends the kind of terror we humans feel at the idea of committing our afflicted relative to the care of strangers.

I therefore suggest that you explore the quality of the institutions your community makes available to you by writing for information to the National Association for Retarded Children, 386 Park Avenue South, New York City, New York.

In America today we are producing new thinking on the value of the lives of people in your family's position. An institution like the Connecticut one represents this thinking. It not only provides trained and dedicated care to its state's mentally defective people. Its human purpose is much bigger than that. It serves their families. By the kind of care it gives their afflicted member, it frees them from terror and so liberates their energies to usefulness in their communities. It enables them to live hopefully instead of in hidden despair. It protects not just damaged lives but all the healthy lives involved with them. (All rights reserved, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

The pre-nomination period is tough on GOP hopefuls because they have to work so hard at being against one another. But it may be a breeze compared to what the winner goes through when the only one he has to be against is named Kennedy.

"What Are You---Unpatriotic, or Something?"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Plans are now shaping up for the world's largest and most important international conference.

This is the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, scheduled for Geneva, Switzerland, March 23 to June 16, 1964.

From 1,500 to 2,000 delegates and trade experts will attend. They will come from 120 countries — all the U. N. members including the Communist bloc countries as well as West Germany, Switzerland, Korea and others not yet members, but co-operating with U. N. specialized agencies. But not Red China.

While the United States, with one vote, could be overwhelmed at such a conference, it is obvious that nothing will be agreed to that the western nations, controlling 70 per cent of world trade, do not approve.

The U. S. delegation of about 50, including clerical help, will have Undersecretary of State George Ball as its senior official, with G. Griffith Johnson, assistant secretary of state for economic affairs, as its active head. The delegation will include two senators, two congressmen and four representatives of private business interests yet to be selected.

AT A DECEMBER MEETING

In New York, American business leaders will be given a briefing and a chance to express their views on U. S. government trade policy papers now in preparation.

Nobody knows for sure what may come out of the Geneva conference. It is not expected to produce another International Trade Organization Charter like the one drafted at Havana in 1947-8, which the U. S. Congress refused to ratify.

A new United Nations specialized agency on trade has been suggested, separate or under the U. N. Economic and Social Council.

Another idea is to let special sessions of the General Assembly, held every two years, review existing world trade patterns and recommend actions to improve them.

The six working committees into which the conference will be divided to cover its agenda after about two weeks of general debate include: International organizations, commodity problems, and price levels, state trading, expanded manufacturing for developing countries, foreign aid for trade development, and development of "invisible exports"—services to the new nations.

THE GENEVA CONFERENCE will have nothing to do with liberalizing East-West trade as a result of the opening provided by Communist bloc purchases of free world surplus wheat.

It is not expected there will be any immediate reorganization of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade—GATT—in which rates are agreed to by free world countries.

The preferential trade relations now being given by the European Common Market countries to their former colonies present a special problem. This has bothered other Asian, African and Latin American countries.

The United States also has its chickens to fry with the Common Market. An American position in opposition to dividing up the world into regional areas behind trade barriers may therefore be expected.

FROM THE AMERICAN POINT OF VIEW, the principal work of the Geneva conference should be to improve the trade, economics and balance of payments positions of the new nations.

Their most frequent wall is that all their troubles are the fault of the developed nations, which import raw materials — now in oversupply — at reduced prices while charging more and more for the industrial equipment they export.

The other side of this argument is that the developing countries don't do as much for themselves as they should. They don't use private enterprise enough and their state-controlled economies don't have adequate planning. They don't develop export industries, don't diversify their economies, don't control inflation or fiscal affairs.

Soviet Russia and the Communist satellites which strongly supported calling of this conference, apparently want to use it to set up a new International Trade Organization.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

By Charles Culver, State Veterans Affairs and John Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 4 Hurley Avenue, Office hours: Monday through Friday 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. — FE-8-1111.

Veterans Day 1963 — Monday, November 11, 1963 will be celebrated as Veterans Day throughout the Nation. Prior to 1954 this day was known as Armistice Day. On this tenth annual Veterans Day our Nation will pause and pay respect to the veterans, living and dead, of all our wars. There are over 22 million veterans of all wars living in the United States today, with more than two million of them living in New York State.

Coast Guard Academy Exam—

The next annual competitive examination for appointment of cadets to the U. S. Coast Guard Academy in New London, Conn., will be held December 7, 1963 in various cities throughout the United States.

Appointment to the Academy is obtained through competitive examination only; there are no Congressional appointments or State quotas. The four year curriculum at the Academy leads to obtaining a Bachelor of Science Degree and the commission of Ensign in the United States Coast Guard.

The examination is open to any unmarried, qualified young man, military or civilian, who will have reached his 17th but not his 22nd birthday on July 1, 1964, who is in good physical condition, and who is sincerely interested in a career as an officer in America's oldest continuous seagoing service.

Requests for information concerning the examination and the requirements may be addressed to the Commandant (PTP-2), United States Coast Guard, Washington 35, D. C. All such inquiries will be given prompt attention.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Recently I have become interested in our local Dolomite stone, which I understand can also be found in the famous Swiss Alps. The first time I saw the name of the stone was in a sign in front of the Fair Street Reformed Church at 209 Fair Street, which is built from dolomite.

I noticed it because I was walking around and admiring the flower arrangements. I spelled it in this column with an "e" like on the sign, and then although I looked in all my books to find more information I could find nothing.

Then one reader, an engineer, I understand with a utility company told me it should spell Dolomite, with an "o", and then I found it, and also read about the discoverer of the stone, a French geologist, Dolomieu, which I mentioned in a previous column. I also made mention to the wrong spelling, which brought the sign maker to the Fair Street Reformed Church, and together with the Rev. Edwin C. Coons of the church they decided to correct the spelling. It seems when the Rev. Mr. Coons was gathering the information for the sign, he went through old records he had, and he copied it as it was written. The Rev. Mr. Coon phoned me to say that he agreed with the dolomite spelling and the sign painter corrected it. I wish other buildings would have such signs and describe, the history and structure, and type of building material, especially if local stone. I was of course delighted with the care my readers read the column and help me in gathering this information. Perhaps at our New York World's Fair, a carriage (dolomite) stone, with photographs of the Fair Street Church and other dolomite construction could be displayed to represent our section.

Mrs. Herbert F. Lown of 72 Orchard Street, Kingston, and a neighbor gave me an interesting item from the Sunday, October 6, New York Times. It is called "Catskills add a historic landmark" by Herb Saltford.

It covers John Burroughs Woodchuck Lodge at Roxbury and Burroughs's Slabside retreat at West Park.

Burroughs died in 1921 when he was 84, and known the world over as a writer and naturalist and friend of famous people of the day. He was buried in Memorial Field near Woodchuck Lodge.

It is said, more than 1,000 people have visited the area every year since. He was born and brought up among relatives who could hardly read and write, and he was to rise so high in the world of culture and science that in 1955, New York University named Burroughs to its Hall of Fame for Great Americans.

Wherever he went into his hideaways, such men as Henry Ford, Thomas A. Edison, Theodore Roosevelt and Harvey Firestone sought his friendship and came to visit him, and invited him to their abodes.

Wherever Burroughs took his friends, it seems the press followed to write stories. Edison provided a mobile electric power plant, Ford furnished the Ford auto, of course, and Firestone was right ready with his tires. Away from the women folks these men camped and cooked and talked. Ford even paid off the debt on the Old Farm and gave the deed to Burroughs, and later he made it possible for the John Burroughs Memorial Association with headquarters in New York to acquire the famous Memorial Field as well as Burroughs Slabside in our section, across the Hudson from world famous Hyde Park.

According to Herb Saltford's article, Burroughs and his helpers built West Park's Slabside in 1895, and the cabin is now maintained by the John Burroughs Memorial Association.

An additional teacher has been employed for one class of Latin, and it is anticipated that there will eventually be a need for a full time teacher.

Honor Society Officers

At a recent meeting of the New Paltz Chapter of the National Honor Society at the New Paltz Central School, the following officers were elected for this present school year:

Edward DuBois, president; Roger Graham, vice president; Jane Bodden, secretary and Corliss Robertson, treasurer.

Thomas Benenati, guidance director, is advisor to the Honor Society.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Nov. 2, the 306th day of 1963. There are 59 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1734, copies of John P. Zerkow's weekly journal were ordered seized and destroyed in New York. The action led to a historic trial to establish the principle of freedom of the press.

On this date:

In 1795, James Polk, who became 11th president, was born in Mecklenburg County, N.C.

In 1889, North and South Dakota were admitted to the Union as the 39th and 40th states.

In 1920, station KDKA at Pittsburgh, Pa., inaugurated regular radio broadcasting when it broadcast U. S. presidential election returns.

In 1948, President Harry Truman was elected for his first full term in a surprise victory over Republican candidate Thomas Dewey.

Ten years ago — Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Nathan Twining disclosed the United States would eventually equip all nations of the free world with atomic arms.

Five years ago — Six major U. S. airlines united in a strike-aid pact under which one or more lines struck would receive from the others all increased revenue realized as a result of the shutdown.

One year ago — President Kennedy said the Russian missile bases in Cuba were being dismantled but that aerial surveillance of Cuba would continue pending an international inspection.

Water Resources
Officials Urge
Support of No. 5

ALBANY—Two of New York's leading water resources officials have strongly urged voter approval of proposed Amendment No. 5 at Tuesday's general election as a "major step toward pollution abatement and sensible water resources planning."

The proposed amendment will lift for a 10 year period the constitutional limitations on debts contracted by municipalities for new construction and improvement of existing sewage treatment facilities.

In a statement released today, Senator Frank E. Van Lure, chairman of the Temporary State Commission on Water Resources Planning, and Conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm, chairman of the Water Resources Commission, said "Pollution abatement, as an integral part of water resources planning, can be effectively achieved only as a cooperative state and local effort."

"In the past, municipalities have been handicapped by debt limitations to provide essential sewage treatment facilities to guard water quality. Approval of Amendment No. 5 will enhance broad planning and provide improved protection of our water resources."

"Although New York has been blessed with an abundant supply of water, it is the duty of the people of the state to use that water wisely. Sewage treatment and pollution abatement go hand in hand with the responsible stewardship of our water resources."

Woman Is Named
President of CS
By Rockefeller

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has named Mary Goode Krone of Chappaqua president of the State Civil Service Commission to succeed H. Eliot Kaplan, who resigned.

Miss Krone, who has been a member of the commission for 9 1/2 years, has held various governmental posts since 1936.

Kaplan, 65, whose home is in Larchmont, said in his letter of resignation that his doctors had advised him to give up the post and seek a warmer climate. He had been appointed in 1959 by Rockefeller to a six-year term.

The governor said Friday in accepting the resignation, which is effective next Wednesday, that "the state has been most fortunate in having had the benefit of your wise counsel."

Miss Krone will be paid $28,875 a year as president of the commission. As a member, she was paid $20,475.

The president of the Civil Service Commission also is head of the State Department of Civil Service, the personnel agency for state government, which has some 120,000 employees.

Heitzman Gives View on Zoning

John P. Heitzman, Democratic candidate for alderman of the Twelfth Ward, released the following statement today:

"I have been asked by certain residents of the Pearl Street area to publicly state my views in regards to the new Zoning Code and how it affects the Pearl Street properties. While it is against my policy to make campaign promises which may give rise to false hopes I will say this much:

"I feel that an error in judgment has been made in designating that area of Pearl Street west of Washington Avenue as R2. It should definitely be upgraded to R1, and if elected I will work to have this corrected.

"I would also point out that my opponent has been attempting to say that this error was overlooked by me while I was 12th Ward alderman. I hasten to remind him that the first draft and map of the Proposed Zoning Ordinance was not received by the Common Council until January 1963, 12 months after I left office. He can also find his name on the second page of this document as being the current alderman."

Answer Is: Play Worked

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A letter from Wyoming reads: "Did I bid too much? Or did my partner? Anyway, we were the only pair to reach six hearts and I was the only person to make six. Actually, I made seven because after West dropped the jack of trumps under dummy's king, I finessed against East's queen. My opponents say that I went against percentage, but I seem to have read somewhere that I had made the correct mathematical play. Did I?"

The answer to all his questions is "yes." He bid too much and so did his partner, but he played the hand correctly.

This type of play is discussed at length in "Jacoby on Gambling" and while the principle involved is well known in expert circles it is not known too generally.

When West dropped the jack under dummy's king it was apparent that he had started with the singleton jack or the doubleton queen-jack.

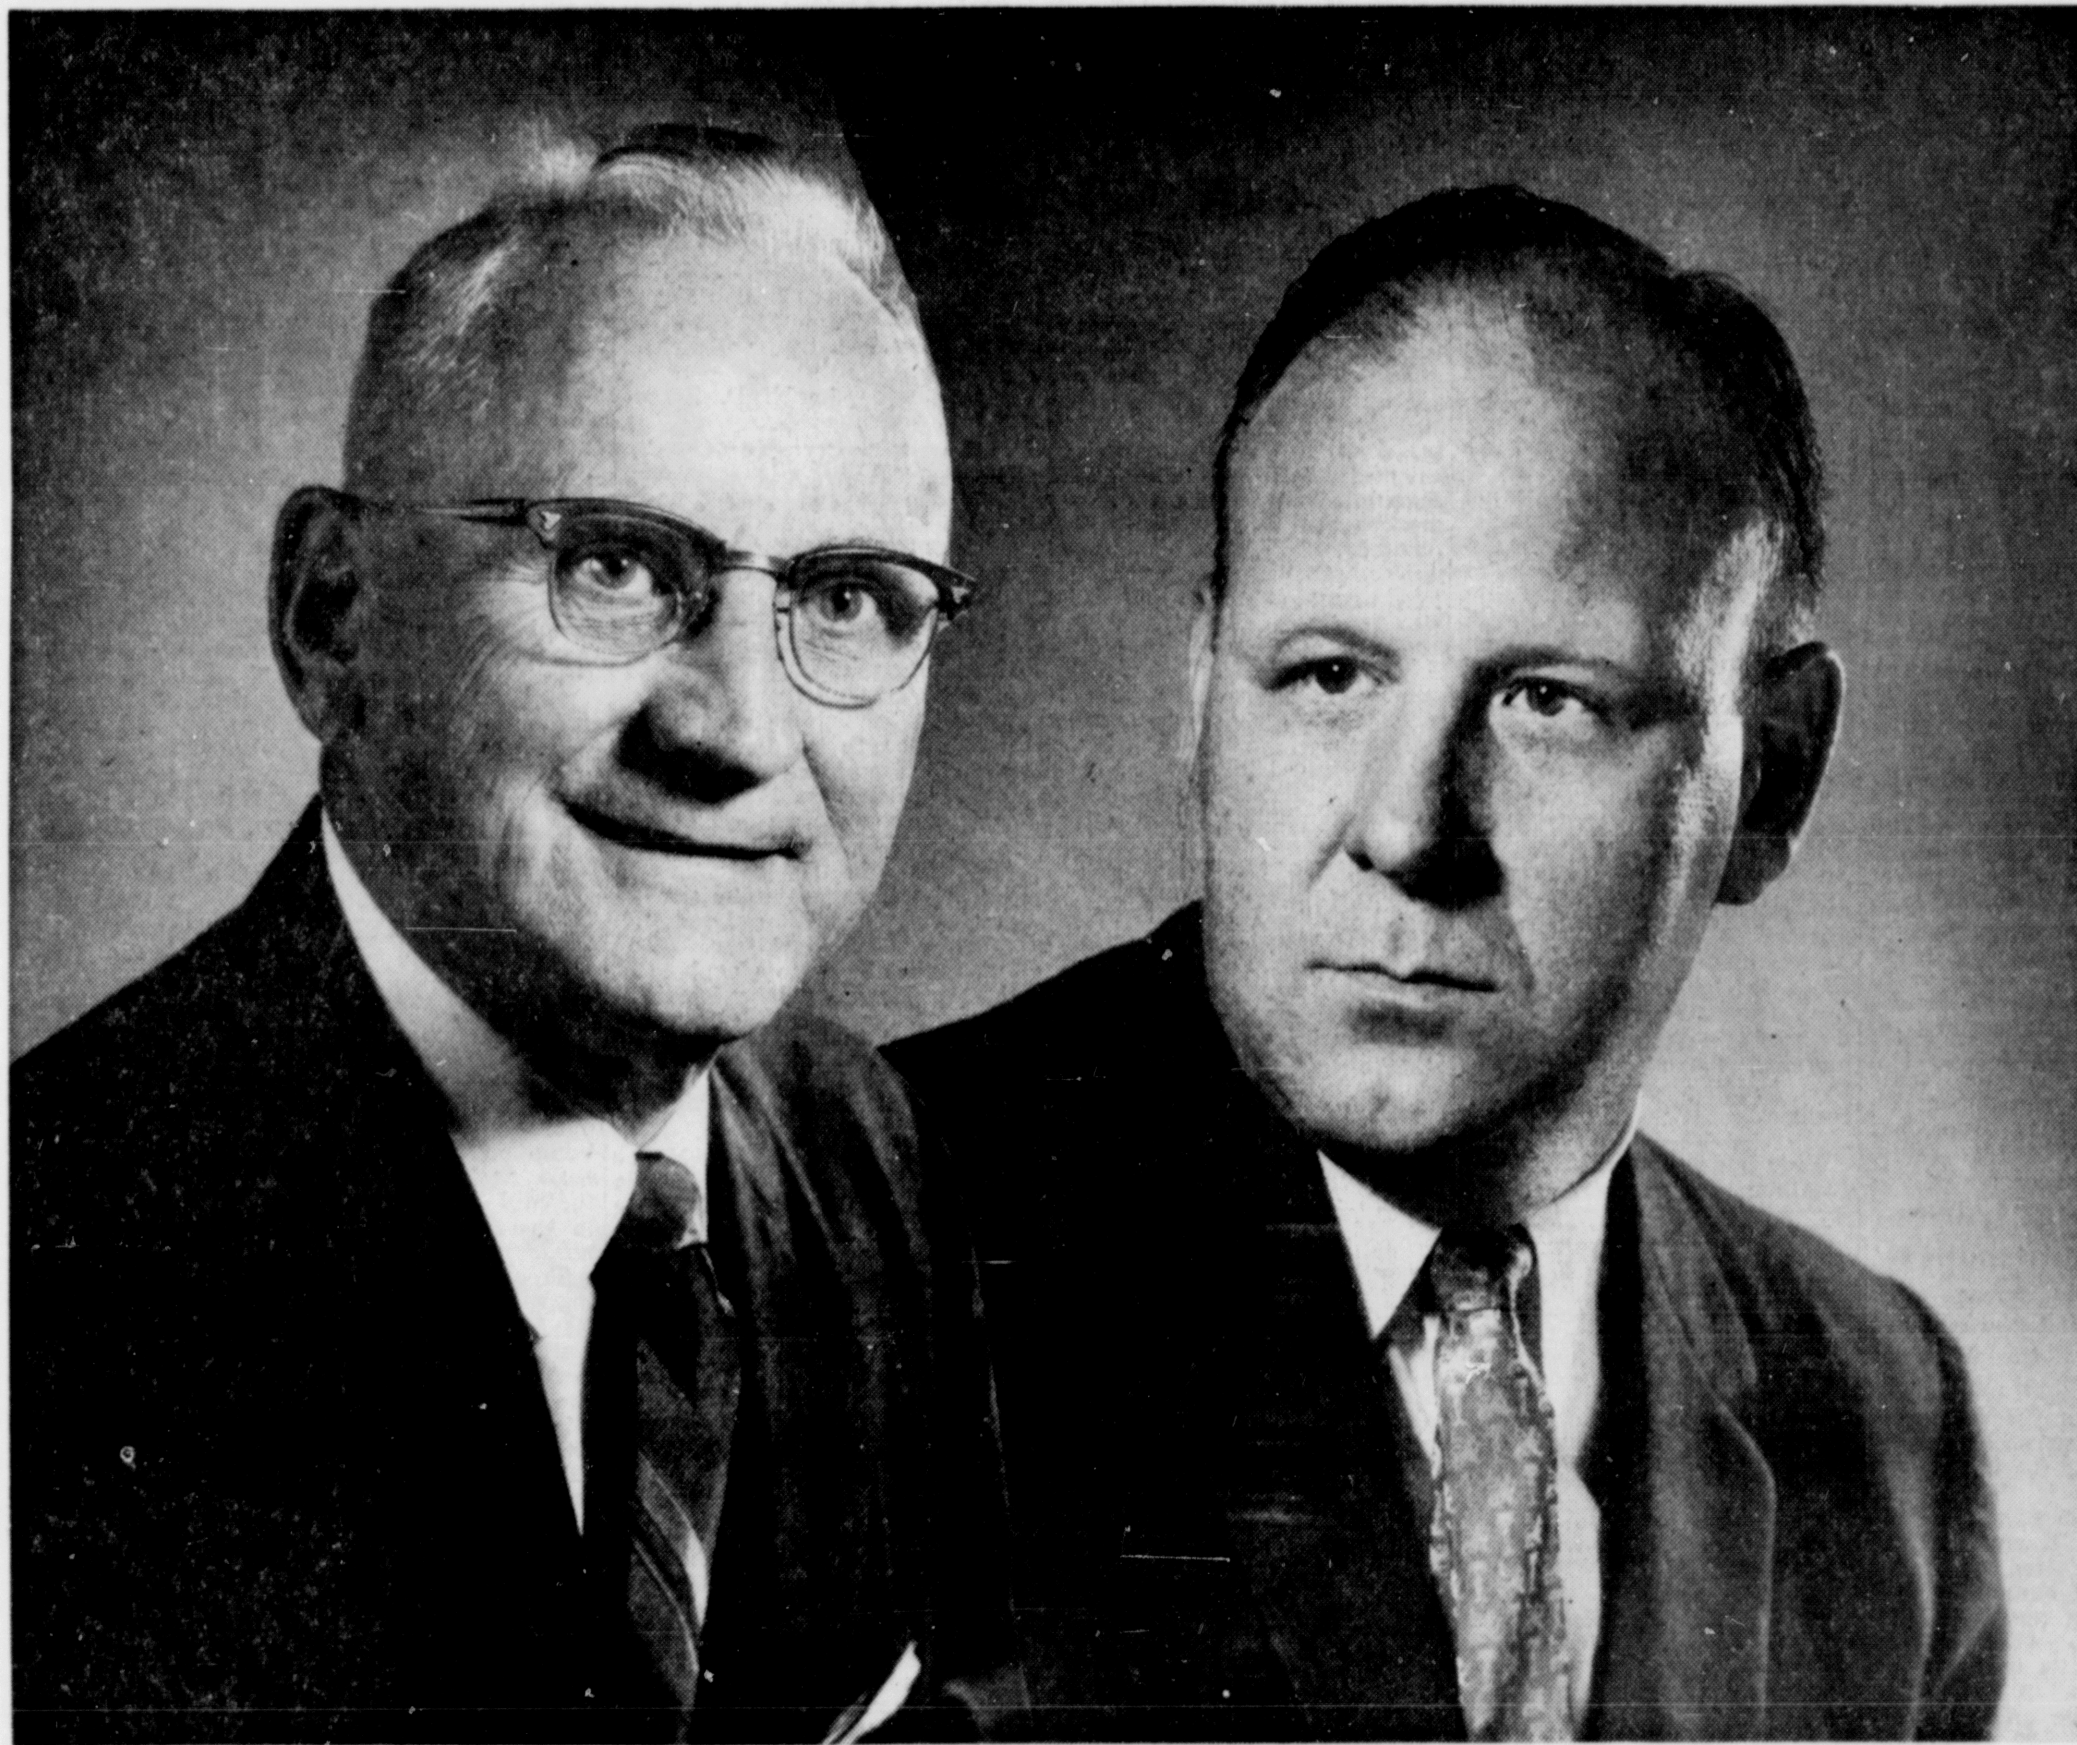

Now we come to the question of selection. If West had started with the singleton jack, he would have had to play it; if he had started with doubleton queen-jack he might well have played the queen instead of the jack. Thus it was far more likely that the jack had been a singleton and the finesse against the queen was correct from the mathematical standpoint. Besides it worked this time.

55-Year-Old Buddhist

Viet Junta Picks
Tho New Premier

TOKYO (AP) — South Viet Nam's new premier, Nguyen Ngoc Tho, is a slender, 55-year-old Buddhist who was vice president under Ngo Dinh Diem.

In a nation where politicians are sometimes considered divided on northern and southern lines, Tho is regarded as a southerner.

Sharp Contrast

His background contrasts sharply with that of the toppled chief of state, for Diem was a Roman Catholic and, in the eyes of many of his people, a northerner.

Tho was born May 26, 1908, in Long Xuy province—a part of Cochinchina under French colonial administration. He joined the civil service at 22 and became a "mandarin" like Diem.

But while Diem was characterized by northern rigidity, Tho was considered endowed with southern warmth and charm.

These qualities made him something of a mediator for the Diem government, which he served from its birth in 1954—to all appearances with loyalty.

His reputation of being a go-between might be one reason why the generals who toppled the glistering social world in a gossip column for the New York Journal-American.

Death Overtakes

Thus has ended a life dedicated for many years to overcoming what Miss Maxwell found at the age of 12 to be the snobbish restrictions of high society.

She once was told that her family was too poor to warrant her being invited to a party in California.

Achieved Goal

"I made up my mind I would give great parties all over the world," she later recalled—and she did.

Soon after she completed her climb to the top rung of the social ladder, Miss Maxwell's attitude seemed to change from one of dedication to success to one of enjoyment of her rich surroundings.

"Do good and have fun," was the way she once summed up her life.

In her lifetime, Miss Maxwell hobnobbed with history-makers such as Adolf Hitler, Benito Mussolini, Winston Churchill, Charles de Gaulle and thousands of great but lesser figures of world prominence.

She has no known relatives.

The daughter of an insurance man, Miss Maxwell was born in Keokuk, Iowa, and moved with her family to San Francisco, where she grew up.

First Part in 1921

She never was graduated from high school but underwent additional education from her father who had an aversion to schools. She served as a pianist in a nickelodeon, a vaudeville accompanist, partner in a Paris night club, consultant to a dressmaker and a nationally known lecturer.

Her first party for royalty was given in 1921 with Princess Helena Victoria, a daughter of Queen Victoria of Great Britain, as her honored guest.

She admitted that her many friends high in the social world provided her with lavish estates and handsome limousines to abet her party-giving.

Her regular income came from her daily newspaper column and royalties from her books.

Wet Pavement Causes
Three Auto Mishaps

Three property damage accidents due to wet highways were investigated by the Highland state police. Since the long drought operators of motor vehicles have apparently become unaccustomed to driving on wet highways.

Friday at 9:45 p. m. on Lat-tintown Road, Town of Marlboro, a car operated by Dianne C. Baker, 20, of Mountain Road, Marlboro, going north on Lat-tintown Road, skidded and turned over on its roof. She escaped injury.

At 10:40 p. m. on Route 9W Steve Barkany, 32, Highland, was driving south when his car skidded on wet pavement. His car upset and landed on its roof.

At 2:15 a. m. today John J. Martin Jr., 18, of 196 Greenkill Avenue was driving north on Route 32 when his car went out of control and struck guard rails on the east side of the highway at the Wallkill River bridge. He escaped injury.

Chimney Screen
At Incinerator
Is Davis' Plea

Alderman William G. Davis of the 13th Ward has released the following copy of his letter to Mayor John J. Schwenk concerning the incinerator controversy:

Your letter of October 30th in answer to mine of October 29, received, and I have carefully noted that you have evaded just about every point was raised by me with regard to the incinerator chimney.

My main point was that I felt that there should have been an immediate repair made which would only have cost Five Hundred Twenty-Five ($255.00) Dollars, and I was not expecting the extensive repair which would have amounted to Two Thousand Five Hundred ($2,500.00) Dollars.

I was told by you that the matter had been taken care of through Universal Road Machinery Company, and upon investigation, a week later, I discovered that this was so and that Universal Road Machinery Company was supposed to take care of the problem. Relying upon that assurance I did nothing more. But at the October, 1963 meeting of the Common Council, Alderman Quick of the Tenth Ward asked a question about the repair of the incinerator chimney and Alderman Joseph Carroll of the Eleventh Ward, who is now your running mate for Alderman-At-Large, took the floor and stated that the matter had been taken care of for me and the Universal Road Machinery Company had been ordered to take care of the matter.

Alderman Carroll went on to say: "Alderman Davis knows this because he checked with Universal Road Machinery Company."

Mr. Mayor you stated in your letter that I waited 6 years before I tried to get this condition corrected. A similar condition has existed for the past ten or 12 years where we have had small pieces of fly ash coming from the chimney. Now with the complete deterioration of the screen it leaves large cardboard cartons to escape from the chimney.

Furthermore, you stated in your release that I had asked for this repair in May when I knew there was no money available. You well know, however, that money can be made available for any emergency, especially small amounts as would be required here and that there would be no difficulty whatsoever in getting the authorization for a budget note; or unexpended funds in any other part of the budget could be used for this purpose with approval of the Common Council.

I am writing this letter to set the record straight and the record should read as follows: All that I am asking now is that a screen be placed on the chimney at a small expenditure of money, and we can wait for the major repair to be done at a later date after provision has been made for same in the 1964 budget.

Man Faces Charge
After Police Car
Rammed in Rear

A Baltimore, Md. motorist, who was charged with driving while intoxicated after his car allegedly struck the rear of a police cruiser early today, denied the charge at his arraignment later in City Court.

James Logan McDonough, 26, who gave his address as PO Box 735, Baltimore, posted $100 bail for trial on Dec. 10. Police said he refused to submit to a blood test.

Patrolmen Harry Short, 30, of 75 Andrew Street, and Edward Ortlieb, of 37 Arlmont Street, said a 1962 model car operated by McDonough struck the rear of a police car while it was parked at a curb at Albany and Ten Broeck Avenue, about 2:25 a. m.

Ortlieb said and Short, driver of the police car, had stopped while Ortlieb made a routine call from a police box to headquarters. He said that while he was making the call, the McDonough vehicle crashed into the rear of the cruiser. Short, meanwhile, disengaged the brake of the police car in anticipation of a collision to lesson the impact.

Sgt. Garvin Fisher, on duty at headquarters, was talking to Ortlieb when the collision occurred. He said he could hear the sound of the collision over the telephone.

In other court cases: Fred J. Shisky Sr., 48, of 12 Field Street, was sentenced to 45 days in the County Jail when he admitted a petit larceny charge.

Shisky was accused of taking two electric motors from Jesse Chambers, of 631 Abel Street, on Oct. 27. The motors were valued at $4 each.

A third degree assault charge against Francis Burns, 44, of 197 Greenkill Avenue, was adjourned to Monday. He was continued free in $25 bail.

Burns allegedly punched Joan Mertine, of 672 Broadway, in the face with his fist, and knocked her to the floor. The incident allegedly took place at the West Shore Hotel, 37 Railroad Avenue. The woman was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment of back and other injuries. She was to be X-rayed.

Two others said $60 in fines when they admitted separate traffic charges.

Frank C. Brown, 45, of Diddle Street, Wappingers Falls, paid $50 on a speeding charge as second offender. He was arrested Oct. 31 by Patrolman Richard Scherer. Michael Gallagher, 17, of East Chester Street Extension, paid a $10 fine for running a red traffic light on Oct. 26.

City Judge Joseph D. Saccamano presided.

Diem Nhu . . .

could not survive the merciless pounding much longer. At 6:37 a. m., a white flag fluttered over the palace.

Diem and Nhu had surrendered unconditionally.

The death toll from the day and night of fighting was feared high, although no figures were available immediately.

U.S. officials said no American lives were lost. U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who was scheduled to return to Washington for consultations today or Sunday, ordered all Americans to take shelter.

A rocket fired from a plane at the presidential palace rammed into a house occupied by U. S. Marines. There was no report of any casualties.

Blames U. S. Backing

In Los Angeles, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, South Viet Nam's former First Lady, remained in seclusion at a hotel. Friday, she angrily said the uprising could not have occurred "without American incitement or American backing."

Asked if she would seek asylum in the United States, where she has just completed a three-week speaking tour, she replied:

"I cannot stay in a country whose government stabbed me in the back."

"I believe all the devils in hell are against us, but we shall triumph."

In New York, diplomatic sources indicated the revolt probably ends the mission of a U.N. factfinding team in South Viet Nam. The seven-nation delegation had come to South Viet Nam at the invitation of Diem to investigate firsthand Buddhist complaints of persecution.

With Diem deposed, diplomatic sources said, the mission probably will make a token report, since its findings could not be applicable to a new government.

Diem's ouster was welcomed by Train Van Tung, secretary-general of the Viet Nam Democratic party, from his exile in Paris. He urged his countrymen and South Viet Nam's allies to support Gen. Minh for a renewed attack on Communism.

Welcomes Ouster

The mission was scheduled to wind up its 12-day tour this weekend and report its findings back to the General Assembly.

JOHN S. STILLMAN

Stillman Slated
To Address Dems
At Rally Tonight

Guest speaker at a Town of Rochester Democratic Club rally to be held in the Pine Grove Hotel on Samsonville Road, Kerhonkson at 7:30 p. m. today, will be John S. Stillman, deputy to the Secretary of Commerce in charge of Congressional relations.

Stillman came to the Commerce Department from an active career which included law in New York City and Orange County. Born in New York City, he graduated from Harvard College in 1940 and received his LL.B. from Columbia Law School in 1947. He was appointed to the New York State Bridge Authority for three years. His experience in Washington, D. C. included counsel for the National Production Authority and in 1952 to legislative assistant to Congressman Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. In 1953 he served as a regional commissioner for the New York Area of the National Enforcement Commission for wage stabilization.

Angela Pellicane and Mrs. Morris Sims have arranged the rally, entertainment and buffet supper. Richard Davis, chairman of the Democratic Party of the Town of Rochester expects a large crowd of both Democrats and independent voters.

The public is invited.

John N. Nichols, 29, of Red Hook RD 2. Troopers said Nichols told them he was blinded by the headlights of a unknown west-bound car, causing him to lose control of his car. The vehicle struck a guard rail on the right shoulder of the road and came to rest in a field on the south side of the road.

Trooper J. A. Bolander Jr. investigated.

Five Hurt Near Hyde Park

Five persons were injured in a three-car accident about 5:45 p. m. Friday on Route 9G at the intersection of Cross Road near Hyde Park.

Rhinoceros troopers identified the drivers as Ernest W. Frank Jr., 32, of Mill Road, Hyde Park; John H. Fraleigh, 30, of Becker's Mobile Manor, Hyde Park and Sylvester Cuomo, 40, of Red Hook RD 2.

Cuomo was taken to North-ern Dutchess Hospital where he was treated for scalp cuts and possible internal injuries.

Others injured included Fraleigh, who suffered right leg cuts; Julie Fraleigh, 19, same address and passenger in the Fraleigh car, back injuries and leg cuts; Virginia Fraleigh, 2 months, another passenger, bump on the right side of the head, and Elaine Frank, 24, of the Mill Road address, passenger in the Frank car, bump on the head.

Troopers said Frank was driving south and Fraleigh north on Rt. 9G. They said Fraleigh was waiting for Frank to pass in order to make a left turn when the Cuomo vehicle struck Fraleigh's car in the rear. The impact forced the rear of the Cuomo vehicle into the path of the Frank car where those vehicles collided.

Trooper W. B. Schamberg investigated.

Feels Junta . . .

visers began arriving at the White House and State Department.

By 9:30 a. m., Kennedy was in his office. From his chief military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers, he received a full report on the situation, and orders went out for U.S. military forces in the Pacific to head toward Viet Nam "should it be necessary to protect American lives."

Carrier on Way

This morning the U.S. aircraft carrier Hancock left Hong Kong, apparently heading toward South Viet Nam.

The United States had demonstrated its displeasure with the Diem regime. Relations between Washington and Saigon became increasingly strained during September and October as the United States sought to pressure Diem into easing his repressive policies against the Buddhists.

Last month's special pay to those of Nhu's elite paratroop corps who had been trained for fighting guerrillas but were used in raids on Buddhist pagodas, was suspended. U.S. economic aid amounting to about $10 million a month was cut off.

The downfall of the Diem government opens the way for a resumption of this assistance.

Eyewitness Gives
Inside Views on
Viet Nam Revolt

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

Associated Press Staff Writer

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) —

The battle for Saigon that ended with the capture of the presidential palace early today was carried out under a full moon in an atmosphere filled with incongruities of war.

First move by the marines against police headquarters shortly after noon Friday caught Saigon by surprise but word spread rapidly. Sidewalk stalls were dismantled and steel shutters and grills pulled over shop windows.

The first firing came at mid-afternoon when palace guards and other forces backing Ngo Dinh Diem opened up on high-flying planes and down one broad thoroughfare.

Next came the beginning of an attack on the presidential guard headquarters at Cong Hoa. The shock of heavy mortars and other explosions ignited the air in downtown Saigon but some traffic by vehicle and on foot continued as if nothing was going on.

A heavily armed guard in the area of Diem's Gia Long palace was reinforced with tanks, other guns, positioned at intersections and along the streets. Troops with light weapons swarmed over the red tile roofs of buildings near the palace.

U.S. GI's Wandered

In the late afternoon reports began to be heard that an ultimatum was given the palace to surrender or be destroyed. The first deadline was said to be 6:30, then 7, then midnight.

As darkness fell, heavy shelling of the guard headquarters continued and heavy weapons around the palace occasionally opened fire. American servicemen in civilian clothes were wandering the downtown streets looking for restaurants and bars.

At midnight the main attack on the palace still had not come. Heavy shelling of scattered areas continued and fires broke out. While explosions boomed out, the dinner-jacketed head waiter at one of the leading hotels calmly seated guests and laughingly explained that service might be a little slow because some restaurant help had left. An American couple held hands across one table while the light of fires and reflections of explosions danced through the window.

Occasional Silence

At 3:25 a. m. bombardment of the presidential guard headquarters stepped up and loud blasts erupted in other parts of the city. Occasionally silence would fall over the city, its streets deserted except for an occasional cruising taxi or a wandering cycle driver.

The main assault on the palace began at 4 a. m. Tanks moved up streets leading to the palace, followed by foot soldiers who moved swiftly across broad avenues and into the shadows of the buildings. Automatic weapons cut loose. The heavy thump of tank guns and mortars mingled with the sharp staccato of machine guns. Cherry red and yellow tracers crisscrossed the sky. Two planes circled high overhead.

Gradually heavy action moved in toward the palace and bright muzzle flashes sparkled through the area. Persons watching the battle from the roofs of nearby buildings regularly hit the deck as rounds of small arms fire whizzed by.

Woods Ban Holds
In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The statewide ban on hunting and fishing remained in force today in drought-stricken Pennsylvania, despite drenching rains in many areas, and spoiled the scheduled opening of the 1963 small-game season.

State Forests and Waters Secretary Maurice K. Goddard said Friday night much more rain is still needed to alleviate the threat of forest fires.

It marked the first time since 1952 the opening of the small game season had to be postponed, forcing thousands of thousands of hunters to stay at home.

The season, which includes rabbits, squirrels, grouse, turkeys, pheasants, and quail was scheduled to open at 8 a. m.

But Goddard and Gov. Scrantom decided Friday after a telephone consultation that the ban, first proclaimed Oct. 18, should continue, even though some areas of the state received over an inch of rain in the last two days.

Goddard said the rain was a welcome relief to fire fighters, but insufficient to alleviate the basic problem of forest fires.

"To withdraw the bans on smoking, outdoor fires, hunting and fishing, until greater amounts of precipitation fall, would be to risk the loss of all that has been gained through the governor's proclamation."

State Hunters

feller said Wilm had notified him that the rain, accompanied by lower temperatures had "sharply reduced the fire hazard throughout the entire state, except for the Lower Catskills and Lower Hudson Valley."

Wilm said the decision to reopen the woods was based on "less than optimum conditions." He warned that extreme care should be taken to prevent further fires.

The number of fires burning in the state today was reported as "small." All were reported under control.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Mary D. Bogert

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary D. Bogert who died at her residence in Lake Katrine Wednesday were held at the A. Carr & Son Funeral Home, 1 Pearl Street, Friday 2 p. m. The Rev. Henry L. Reinwald, pastor of the Plattekill Reformed Church, Mt. Marion, officiated. Services were largely attended and there were many beautiful floral tributes. Burial was in Mt. Marion Cemetery.

Miss Carolyn McCullough

Funeral services for Miss Carolyn McCullough were held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Keyser Funeral Service, Kingston Chapel, Albany and Manor Avenues, with the Rev. David C. Gaise, D.D., pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, of which Miss McCullough was a member, officiating. Many floral tributes were received and services largely attended. Commitment services conducted by the Rev. Dr. Gaise were held at Montrose Cemetery.

Mrs. Marie Huck

The funeral of Mrs. Marie Huck of Neighborhood Road, who died Tuesday, was held from the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany Avenue, Friday at 10 a. m. The Rev. Leo Wesolowsky, pastor of St. Vladimir Ukrainian Church of New York City, officiated. Services were largely attended. Assisting at the service was Cantor William Zavitnevsky. Many friends, relatives and neighbors called at the funeral home to pay their respects and offer condolence to the bereaved family. There were many beautiful floral tributes. On Thursday evening Father Wesolowsky called at the funeral home and conducted a prayer service. Burial was in the family plot in Fishkill Rural Cemetery where Father Wesolowsky gave the final blessing.

Elias Freer

Elias Freer, of 22 Canal Street, Ellenville, died Friday in Kingston at the age of 77. He was born in Oak Ridge, Ellenville, Aug. 18, 1886, a son of the late David C. and Josephine Kniffin Freer. Eulogize Menjou For His Battle On Subversion

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Friends of late actor Adolphe Menjou eulogized him as a fighter of "forces of subversion" within the Hollywood film industry.

Dr. J. Herbert Smith, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church and a friend of Menjou, said Friday in memorial services that Menjou "was among the first to see the dangers that existed in Hollywood back in the late 40s."

Menjou died Oct. 29 at the age of 73.

More than 100 mourners attended the services, including James Stewart, George Murphy, William Demarest and J. Carroll Nash.

Mother Faces Trial On Girl's Pregnancy

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 16-year-old girl has had three illegitimate children, a juvenile court judge says, and her mother faces trial after telling the judge she instructed her daughter on the use of contraceptives.

Mrs. Virginia McLaughlin, 33, was charged Friday with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Judge Angelo Gagliardo said he ordered the charges placed against the mother on the basis of her statement in a recent court session with her daughter.

He quoted the mother as saying, "I told my daughter where to buy contraceptives and how to use them but she still got pregnant."

Yule-Like Ball Blows Up, Takes Tot's Hand

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — It looked like a white Christmas tree ball, lying there in the weeds of a parking lot.

One-year-old Suzanne DeCamp picked it up Friday and began rubbing it on the concrete sidewalk.

What looked like a Christmas trinket was actually a home-made bomb and it exploded, blowing off Suzanne's right hand.

Police said George E. Hale, 16, told them he threw the bomb into the weed patch after one just like it exploded prematurely and mangled the hand of a friend, Gary L. Latham, 14, on Halloween.

The youths had made the bombs themselves.

Man, Woman Die In Olean Blaze

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — A fire at a boarding-house took the lives of a man and a woman Friday night and critically injured her husband. Another occupant escaped uninjured.

Firemen in this Cattaraugus County city said they had not determined the cause of the fire.

One of the dead, Mrs. Augusta Fremming, about 55, was found on the floor of the living room in her second-floor apartment. The other, John Schouten, about 72, was in an enclosed porch.

Schouten owned the building, Charles, about 70, was listed in critical condition at St. Francis Hospital.

Firemen said the flames probably broke out on the first floor of the two-story structure.

Goldwater Blames Welch for Birch Society Dispute

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says he has no intention of denouncing members of the John Birch Society—as long as what they do and say is "temperate and in keeping with the decency called for in American politics."

But the Arizona Republican doesn't put the society's founder, Robert Welch, in that category.

Goldwater said he long ago took issue with Welch—who has called former President Dwight D. Eisenhower a traitor and the late John Foster Dulles a Communist.

Replies to Publisher
"The argument, in my opinion, against the Birch Society centers on Mr. Welch," Goldwater said.

The conservative senator spelled out his views on the right-wing society in a letter to Thomas M. Storke, editor and publisher of the Santa Barbara, Calif., News-Press.

Storke won a Pulitzer Prize in 1962 for editorials "calling public attention to the efforts of the semi-secret John Birch Society to wage a campaign of hate and vilification in Santa Barbara."

The California publisher wrote Goldwater Aug. 15 asking where the senator stands on "principal tenets of the society which have been laid down by Welch himself."

In his Oct. 21 reply, made public today, Goldwater said he does not agree with the society's call for impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren, elimination of the income tax and U.S. withdrawal from the United Nations.

"I have followed your campaign against Mr. Welch," Goldwater wrote, "and I would like to inform you that I had openly expressed my disagreement with that gentleman quite some time before you took up the cudgels."

The senator said "if you start denouncing organizations whose leaders have made comments or adopted principles or taken actions with which you do not agree, you would be surprised at how few you could wholly accept."

He added: "Let's not berate the constitutional rights of Americans to say anything as long as it doesn't lead to the overthrow of our government. Let's disagree with them where we do, but let's not by association intimidate anyone from saying what he thinks."

Goldwater has said the society is not a power in U.S. politics anyhow.

He Reports Cop
BURTON-ON-TRENT, England (AP) — Police Constable Edward Routledge told a motorist he would be reported for parking on the wrong side of the highway at night without lights.

As the policeman rode away on his bicycle, the motorist, Norman Long, noticed that the policeman's rear light wasn't working. So he reported the cop.

Friday the motorist was fined $14. The police was fined $5.60.

SLA to Issue Permits For New Year's Eve

All-night-permits for New Year's Eve will again be issued this year to on-premises licensees desiring them, the State Liquor Authority announced today.

These permits, which extend the closing hour on Wednesday, Jan. 1, 1964 to 8 a. m., the usual opening hour, may be obtained by restaurant, hotel, club and eating place licensees.

Applications for all-night permits may be obtained at all county Alcoholic Beverage Control Boards and at all Zone Offices of the State Liquor Authority, and must be filed no later than December 11, 1963, at the appropriate Zone Office of the Authority.

Reds Fly Home, Ridicule Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—Three accused Soviet spies expelled by the United States flew home to Russia Friday night after one ridiculed the espionage charges as "nonsense."

The one-word description was offered by Yuri A. Romashin, 28, third secretary of the Russian delegation to the United Nations, as he and two other delegation employees departed.

Glad He's Going
The State Department had requested that the three be booted out of the country. They could not be prosecuted here because of diplomatic immunity.

Besides Romashin, the other two are Gleb A. Pavlov, 39, a Soviet attaché, and Vladimir I. Olenov, 37, identified only as a delegation employee. Their wives and Romashin's young daughter and Olenov's infant son left with them.

"I'm very glad to be going home," Romashin told reporters. "We send our best wishes to the American workers." The FBI said the three Russians had conspired with an American engineer and a Soviet citizen who did not enjoy diplomatic immunity, to steal data on a "highly sensitive Air Force contract."

Picked Up in Jersey

The latter two, Igor A. Ivanov, 33, a chauffeur for Amtorg, the Soviet trading agency, and U.S. citizen John W. Butenko, 38, of Orange, N.J., an engineer for the International Electric Corp., are being held by federal authorities for prosecution on spy charges.

Butenko's firm, a subsidiary of International Telephone and Telegraph Co., is doing work for the Strategic Air Command on a worldwide electronic control system.

He and the other four were picked up last Tuesday night in Englewood, N.J.

Collections Will Aid Ill Veterans

Two committees of the Town of Esopus American Legion Auxiliary are conducting drives to aid sick veterans.

The cancer committee is collecting used men's shirts, sheets, nylons or any white material that can be used for making dressings or pads. Men's shirts can be any color as these are made in to hospital bed jackets. All materials must be clean and can be left at the Port Ewen Pharmacy or with Mrs. Ethel Howard, unit and county cancer chairman.

The coupon committee of the auxiliary is collecting all kinds of coupons in addition to S&H trading stamps. Through an agreement with the New York State American Legion Auxiliary, companies issuing coupons will redeem them for cash, which is mailed directly to the veteran's hospital designated by the state auxiliary.

Coupons may be sent to Mrs. Francis Dempsey, Port Ewen, Ulster County coupon chairman. The two committees will be permanent and donations may be made at any time.

Pinned Against Market

Arthur Clausi, 27, Lake Katrine, was taken to Benedictine Hospital shortly before noon Friday after being pinned between a tractor-trailer and the Shop-Rite super-market on Albany Avenue Extension. He suffered chest and abdominal injuries and was held for X-rays. Clausi was walking between the super-market and a parked trailer when the driver of the tractor, Albert Ross, 34, Newark, N. J., backed to connect with the trailer. The trailer moved backwards catching Clausi. State Trooper William Ruth investigated. Clausi was taken to the hospital by Doctor's Ambulance.

World Fellowship Week Set for Nov. 10-16; Local YWCA Will Participate in Observance

The Kingston YWCA will join with more than two million U. S. A. members as part of a worldwide movement that plays an important role in building peace and goodwill by observing World Fellowship Week, November 10-16.

Associations in 71 countries will participate in this annual November celebration, according to Miss Frances Maxwell, World Fellowship chairman. As a member of the World YWCA Headquarters, Geneva, Switzerland, the YWCA of the U. S. A. takes responsibility through the Mutual Service Program of the world organization for contributions that help special work in 24 countries. Funds raised by YWCA members across the United States make possible advisory service, program grants and training of indigenous personnel, or a combination of these aids, Miss Maxwell explained.

Highlighting the local observance will be a World Fellowship Tea and Program to be held on Sunday, Nov. 10 at 3 p. m. at the YWCA building, 209 Clinton Avenue, to which the community is invited. Miss Barbara Shultz, who has recently returned to Kingston from a year spent in Kofu, Japan, will be guest speaker and will show slides of her work in both the public schools of Kofu and in the YWCA, where Miss Shultz was an honorary member of their board of directors.

Following the tradition of many years, the National YWCA will sponsor a World Fellowship Observance at the Washington, (D. C.) Cathedral on Sunday, Nov. 10. The Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the Lutheran Church in America and chairman of the World Council of Churches Executive Committee, will be the speaker. This cathedral service will be televised by CBS-TV on Sunday, Nov. 17, at 10:30 a. m. the first time this observance has been televised. Over 2,000 YWCA representatives from 50 states as well as from overseas are expected to attend the Washington event.

Miss Lilace Reid Barnes, Lake Forest, Ill., immediate past president of the YWCA of the U. S. A., is serving for the second year as national chairman for World Fellowship Week.

Judge Louis G. Bruhn Named Speaker For Secretarial Seminar on November 9

A "Professional Secretarial Smorgasbord" will highlight the afternoon session of the secretarial seminar "The Spotlight's On You," according to Mrs. Gloria Starling, general chairman.

The Smorgasbord will be a panel-like discussion of problems procedural, educational, personal and personnel. Moderator for the Smorgasbord will be the Honorable Louis G. Bruhn, Justice of the Supreme Court of New York State.

Judge Bruhn is a native Kingstonian and a graduate of Kingston High School. He received his AB from Union College and his law degree from the Albany Law School, in addition to having studied at Yale University. Judge Bruhn's legal experience is varied. Admitted to practice in 1934 he served as clerk to the Honorable Philip Elting, delegate to the New York State Constitutional Convention; Counsel to the Joint Legislative Committee to review election law; was appointed District Attorney of Ulster County by the Honorable Thomas E. Dewey, and served as County Judge of the Children's Court. On January 1, 1961, he was appointed Justice of the Supreme Court of New York by Governor Nelson Rockefeller, the chair he now fills. Judge Bruhn is a member and Past President of the Ulster County Bar Association and a member of the New York State and American Bar Association.

The panel will be composed of experts from education and industry. Representing industry will be John E. Mack, manager of employment, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, Poughkeepsie, and Miss Jane E. Klausman, certified professional secretary, Crouse-Hinds Co., Syracuse.

Mr. Mack is a graduate of the Poughkeepsie High School. He received his BS in finance from Siena College in 1936. Prior to his employment with Central Hudson, he served in the U. S. Army.

Miss Klausman, in addition to her executive secretarial position as secretary to the group vice president and the Director of Sales at the Crouse-Hinds Co., is an active member of the National Secretaries Association (International). She has held offices in the Syracuse Chapter and has filled the posts of New York State Division President and Northeast District Vice President. As a result of nationwide competition, Miss Klausman was recently designated "International Secretary of the Year."

Donald Germain, guidance counselor for the Kingston City Schools Consolidated, will serve as conference recorder for this session. A summarization, unbiased, of the discussions will be provided each attendee. Mr. Germain received his BS degree in Business Administration and an MS in Guidance from the New York State Teacher's College at Albany. From 1956-1960, he taught in the commercial department of the Kingston High School. Mr. Germain has been active in the Adult Education Programs, has had varied experience in business and industry, and served more than five years in the U. S. Navy.

This secretarial seminar, the first of its kind in the area, is being sponsored by the Kingston Poughkeepsie Chapter of the National Secretaries Association. It will be held on Saturday, Nov. 9 at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School in Kingston. Registration is open to all area secretaries, business students, teachers and interested members of management. Students and teachers may obtain registration forms at the high schools. Secretaries and other interested persons are invited to contact either Mrs. Starling or Miss Lillian M. Styles, president of the sponsoring Kingston-Poughkeepsie Chapter of the National Secretaries Association.

The city registrar recently recorded the following births:

Oct. 14—Christina Marie to Mr. and Mrs. William Louis Leonardo, 27 Hone Street.

Oct. 21—Kevin James to Mr. and Mrs. James Allen Fraser, Shandaken.

Oct. 22—Dolores Louisa to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edward Dolan, 3 East Union Street.

Women Want Kitchen Pantries

Latent in many a housewife's heart is the desire for an "old-fashioned family kitchen" in a new home.

Many also want no part of a garage directly facing the street, which has been described as a gaping, toothless mouth" when the doors are left open.

These are some of the impressions gained from discussions at housing seminars held in five cities under the auspices of the National Association of Home Builders.

About 30 representative women attended the seminars in each of the cities — Portland, Ore.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Fort Worth, Tex.; Washington, D. C.; and Cincinnati, O.

Not all of the women agreed on their preferences in housing and, naturally, tastes in many cases were patterned after the geographical areas in which they lived.

However, some other general impressions gained from the seminars were these:

There was an almost unanimous wish expressed for the "old-fashioned walk-in pantry."

There was surprisingly little clamor for more baths. But in several of the cities a wish was expressed for a children's half-bath near a mud-room kind of entrance.

Nearly everyone agreed the laundry equipment should not be in the kitchen, but there was no unanimity as to where it should be.

On the dining-room question, it was felt that many women are seeking a flexible kind of living-dining area that could fulfill several functions with a minimum amount of shifting things about.

In considering the kitchen, not many of the women used the term "old-fashioned family kitchen," but those conducting the seminars got the impression that it is exactly what many, many women covet — a space in which all sorts of family activities, including cooking, could be pursued easily and naturally.

The idea of an island counter-work area in the kitchen was more enthusiastically received in the Western cities.

Most of the women also want windows reasonably uniform in size and an entrance hall or foyer that provides "a gracious place" for greeting guests.

Virtually every woman in every city wanted an entry hall or foyer that would not only provide a pleasant area to greet guests, but would be fully screened from the rest of the house, and provide adequate storage space for coats, umbrellas and other personal things.

Most of the women opposed extremes in the style or design of houses in neighborhoods. They said they did not want to live in precise look-alikes but neither did they want to live in neighborhoods of conflicting architectural designs. A Portland woman neatly summed up this discussion by saying that she liked the idea of homes in a given neighborhood to have "the same general feeling."

In each of the seminars, the discussions began with the neighborhood, the exterior of a house and then went through a hypothetical house room by room. A detailed analysis of the housing likes and dislikes expressed will be a feature presentation at the 20th anniversary Convention-Exposition of the National Association of Home Builders, Dec. 10 through 15.

The seminars revealed that there is a difference of opinion on the desirability of the front yard. To some, a handsome, well-tended front yard still seems to be a "status symbol." But others, particularly in the Western cities, considered the old-fashioned front yard a waste of precious land. The "walled courtyard idea" made sense to many. They stressed that they wanted their main outdoor living area at the rear of the house. But so did many other women in all the cities.

A master bedroom with a "living room look" was also popular. Many of the participants wanted this room to be the "parents' retreat" for reading, writing, watching TV, or keeping the family accounts.

A bedroom for each child, with desk and ample storage space was also a part of nearly every woman's dream house.

Members of the Association, who will get a breakdown of the housing preferences at their Chicago Convention, will use the data as guides in drawing plans for their 1964 new homes.

ENTERTAINING IN THE BASEMENT

Q: I would like your opinion on something that has been a pet peeve of mine for some time. Quite a few of our friends have finished basements and do all their entertaining in them. I can see using this room for an occasional big party but at other times I think guests should be entertained in the living room. To me it is still a cellar no matter how it is fixed up and, in my opinion, no place to entertain company. What do you think about this?

A: I agree with you that when only a small number of guests are present, they should be entertained in the living room and the basement used only for large informal parties.

Inviting Boy From a Distance

Q: I would like to invite a boy who lives about 75 miles from here to a dance. He will be unable to return home that same evening because of the distance and the late hour the dance will be over. Am I supposed to ask him to stay at my house or take a room for him at a hotel and pay for it?

A: If you can accommodate him at your parents' house, you should do so. If lack of space does not permit this, you should explain when inviting him that he will have to stay at a hotel and offer to reserve a room for him. If your parents can afford it, it would be proper as well as generous of them to pay his hotel room. If not, he pays for it himself.

Prongs Up Or Down?

Q: I was always understood that when one has finished eating, the knife and fork were laid side by side on the plate with the prongs of the fork pointing up. My husband always places the fork prongs down. He said he was taught to do this at boarding school and that it means you have finished eating. Which way is correct?

A: The fork is placed on the plate with the prongs pointing up.

Putting Up Storm Windows Heralds Coming of Winter

BY MR. FIX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One chore which, more than any other, heralds the advance of cold weather is the job of putting up storm windows. Though it may head the list of things to do, switching from screens to storms often is delayed as long as possible.

Since it can be a big job, make sure that it is worth the effort. Be certain that your storm windows will do the job for which they are intended.

At the same time you will be prolonging the life of the storm sash.

Perfect Fit

Every window should be a perfect fit. None should be put up that needs painting. Since you will probably wash the windows before you put them up, you have an opportunity to give each one a careful inspection.

Obviously, cracked or broken putty should be replaced as well. Scrape out the old and prime the surface with linseed oil before applying new putty.

Frames become loose with age. Sometimes open corner joints can be closed by tapping with a wooden block and hammer. Joints can be reinforced with angle irons, metal straps or other braces that will bridge the adjoining pieces of wood. Use wood screws to fasten these. Corrugated fasteners or other wood fasteners also may be used to reinforce a weak corner.

Paint Job

They may need retouching. Remember that they should be painted not only on the surface, but on the edges as well. Failure to seal all surfaces will cause the wood to absorb moisture and swell.

On inner edges you will have to paint sparingly. Thick coats will make installation difficult.

Windows should fit snugly, but not so snug that you have to force them in. If a window sticks, note where it is rubbing and sand or plane the edge. Remember to seal the edges when you finish.

If the windows fit too loosely, they're no good at all since air is entering around them. In this case install felt or sponge weather stripping or other insulation material on the inside edges, so that it seals the opening.

Other Tips

Aluminum storm windows need little maintenance, but should be checked just the same. Clean them with steel wool to remove oxidation. If the window is of the type that slides out of the way and is self-storing, remember to lubricate and clean the guide tracks occasionally.

With aluminum windows, a rubber moulding generally cushions and holds the glass in the frame. If you find that it is out of the groove, work it back in to keep the glass tight.

Home Extension Service News

The following article on composting is submitted by Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent:

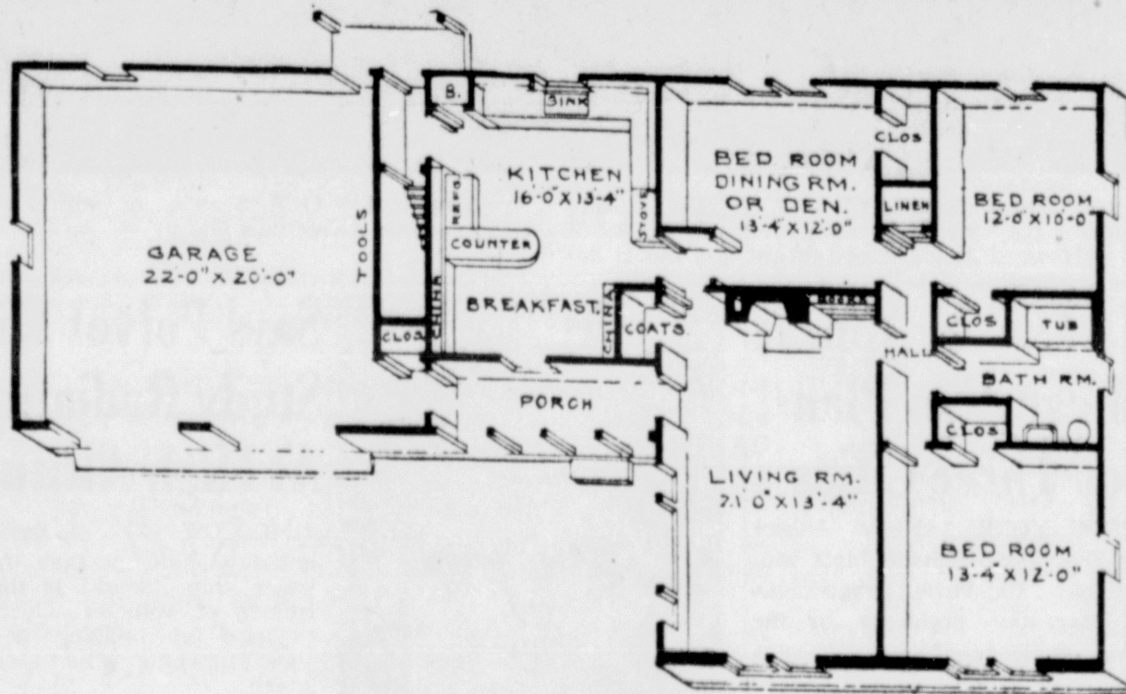

Have you ever wished you had some composed organic matter handy when you were planting a garden or transplanting a shrub? This is an excellent time to remedy this situation by using fallen leaves to start building your own compost pile to produce the organic matter you desire. Organic matter in the soil increases the water holding capacity of the soil, and through its decay, releases nitrogen and other nutrients for plant use.

Leaves are ideal for composting, but old sod, lawn clippings, straw, and plant refuse from the vegetable garden or the kitchen can be used. The purpose of composting plant refuse is to reduce it to a physical condition that can be easily handled and that will not be unsightly when used in the garden. Composting is essentially a disintegration process in which the structure of the organic materials is broken down by decay caused by the action of bacteria and fungi with a considerable loss of bulk.

Building a compost pile is not an exact process. The usual practice is to accumulate the organic material in some out-of-the-way corner of the garden or other inconspicuous place. It can be built on open ground or in a bin made of rough boards or of stakes and chicken wire. The sides of the bin should not be too tight. In starting the pile a part of the plant refuse is spread out in a layer about six inches deep. The size of the pile should be planned so that at least four or five layers can be made from the material available. A commercial fertilizer such as 10-10-10, 20-20-10, or 16-4-4 is spread on each layer at the rate of about ½ pound or one cupful to each 10 square feet. Sprinkling a few shovelfuls of garden soil over each layer will make sure that decay organisms are present.

The organic material should be thoroughly moistened, using a hose or any convenient method. Successive layers are built in this way. Building the pile with a flat top which slants toward the center to catch rainfall has an advantage. Decay will not take place rapidly until the weather warms up in the spring and summer. It is quite likely that the compost can be ready for use at the end of the first summer season. Compost can be used as a mulch, incorporated in flower or vegetable gardens, or used in any way that peat or rotted manure would be.

Spacious Home Designed For Informal Living

Rooms Five
Bedrooms Three
Closets Seven
Cubage: House 29,800 ft.
Garage 9,300 ft.
Dimensions 68' x 34'

Handsomely modern and comfortably spacious, "The Greeley," today's presentation from the Home of the Week Plan Service, is designed for the average modern family and planned for informal modern living.

Overall measurements of the house and attached garage are 68 by 34 feet. Total cubage is 29,800 feet; cubage of the garage is 760 feet. You'll need at least a 90-foot lot to build the house and two-car garage.

With a house of this type the choice of exterior finish is really a matter of personal preference.

Because of the generous use of large windows and the decorative effect they create, little exterior ornamentation is required. Multi-colored roofing can be used to good advantage however.

Two Bedrooms
Placing the two bedrooms in the right wing of the house assures the utmost possible privacy and quiet for the sleeping quarters. Ample closet space is provided where excellent cross ventilation is featured.

Located between the two bedrooms the all-modern bath is also conveniently near to the living room in your home—the room designated as a dining room can be put to use for either of these purposes. You'll find the living room sufficiently

Use Leftover Cedar Lining For Drawers

Leftover material always presents an interesting problem for the do-it-yourselfer.

In most cases some good can be found for the material. Installing aromatic red cedar closet lining in one or more of the house's bedrooms is a popular handyman project, and there are several ways to utilize the leftover pieces.

They can be used to line bureau drawers, or a large toy box can be converted into a moth-repellent storage center. It's easy to install pieces of red cedar, whether it's in a closet or drawer.

Use a hand saw to cut the pieces to size. Tongue and groove edges and ends simplifying fitting. Aromatic red cedar closet lining does not require any finishing. Paint or varnish would seal in the natural aroma, which repels moths.

Fireplaces Still Need Cleaning

Today's automatic furnaces and heating units have almost eliminated the job of carrying out ashes and clinkers in many parts of the country, but there's still the task of cleaning fireplaces for thousands of homeowners.

It's well to remember that a home fireplace needs a one to two-inch bed of ashes to produce maximum heat, but when the ashes pile up, a cleanup is in order.

Care is required for the sake of the carpets and furniture nearby, but this will pose no problem if you equip yourself with a small shovel and a galvanized steel basket or pail.

Either one will keep the ashes confined until you can get rid of them outside.

with pieces of aromatic red cedar left over from a closet project will provide "bonus" storage space for out-of-season clothes.

Hydronaut Crew Honored by MTI

A group of hydronauts recently returned from a search and rescue exercise by the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 63, attended a reception in their honor recently at the Mamaroneck Beach and Yacht Club, Mamaroneck.

Marine Testing Institute President Harold B. Schneider, reported that all hydronauts returned safely upon the successful completion of the MTI life raft testing program. The MTI "Superior Product" award was won by the U. S. Rubber Co.

Bernard A. Feeney of Reliance Marine Transportation and Construction Corp., Kingston, is the local representative of MTI.

The hydronauts, who were said to have volunteered for the assignment, were reported to be members of the New York University student division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Following a search and rescue exercise by the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 63, according to Schneider, the rafts were then towed back into Long Island Sound, boarded from the water and inhabited by the hydronauts for a period of eight days. Although special provisions were made for the comfort of the crews the MTI president stated that the conclusions indicated that under even extremely adverse conditions, survivors of a pleasure boat disaster need not experience further danger while awaiting rescue.

The award winning raft manufactured by the U. S. Rubber

Co. is of the self-inflatable type and produced in 6, 10, 15 and 20-man sizes. A separate inflatable floor fits over the regular floor to insulate against cold. Each raft has three different flotation compartments, a full canopy which is automatically erected and a partially submergeable boarding ramp to facilitate easy entrance from the water even in heavy seas. Other essential equipment is also attached and included in the carrying case.

Schneider reported that MTI is an independent testing organization affiliated with New York Testing Laboratories who have been specialists in environmental and materials testing since 1919. For guidance in its selection of superior products for awards MTI depends greatly upon its evaluation board composed of 550 leading dealers of marine equipment located in every boating area of the United States.

Probation Eased At Syracuse for Seven Students

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Seven Syracuse University students, including a star football player, were free today of the shackles of disciplinary probation.

The disciplinary restrictions against athlete Gerry Everling and six other students were lifted Friday, on the eve of today's gridiron clash between Syracuse and Pittsburgh.

The decision will enable Everling, a 195-pound star tackle from Binghamton, to compete against Pittsburgh in the game which will affect the national and eastern standings of the two football powers.

Everling, a junior, has been out of the lineup all season because of his probationary status, which was to have run until February.

David Tatum, assistant dean of men at Syracuse, said the lifting of Everling's probation status was not related to today's game.

However, it is not secret that there has been a concerted effort from various quarters to get Everling's football eligibility reinstated.

Tatum said none of the six other students, including a coed arrested in a racial demonstration, were athletes. He said the action came after a general review of about 20 disciplinary cases.

A university spokesman said the ruling was not unusual in that "we review discipline cases all the time."

Everling had been placed on probation by the university last May after what was described as a "horseplay" incident. He was a starter last season and had been expected to be a mainstay of the Orange line this year.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder said Everling would play on defense against Pitt.

The university did not name any of the six other students in accordance with its normal policy in disciplinary matters.

Dam Hearings End

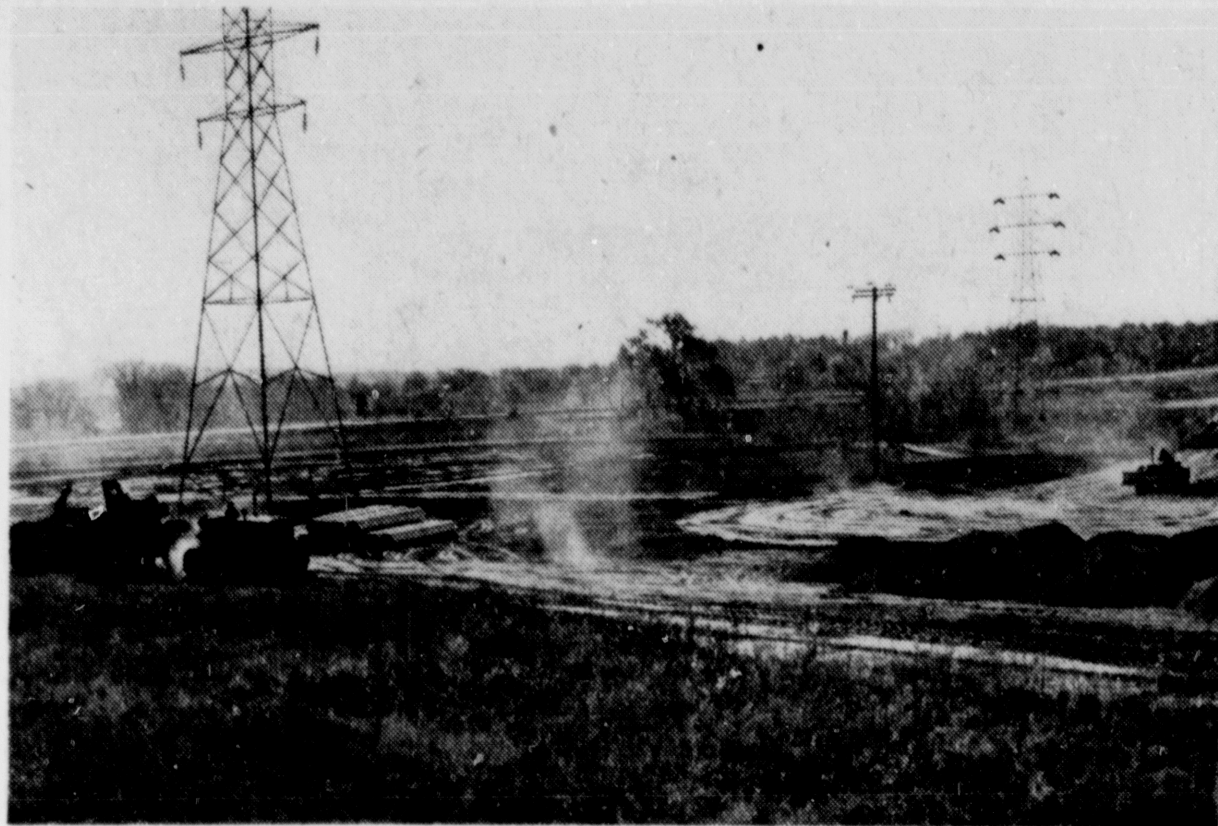

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman James A. Haley, D-Fla., says his House interior subcommittee will meet within the next two weeks to put the finishing touches on a measure to help the Seneca Indians adjust to the Kinzua, Pa., dam and reservoir.

Haley's committee completed hearings Friday on the measure. The chairman said the finished bill could be passed by the House this year.

He also expressed hope the Senate would approve the bill this year because "we have a deadline we must meet to give these people justice."

The Indians have estimated the cost of adjustment at more than $39 million.

Saint Francis Xavier Cabrini was canonized in 1946.

NAACP to Appeal Integration Plan For Three Cities

NEW YORK (AP)—School districts must provide high educational standards, regardless of integration problems, or the state will take action, says State Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr.

Allen spoke Friday at the 12th annual conference of the Citizens Committee for the Public Schools.

Allen said he was pleased with the progress being made to correct segregation problems in the 24 districts of the state which had reported Negro concentrations of more than 50 per cent.

Although the state had primary responsibility for educational equality for every child, Allen said, it needed local cooperation. If that is not forthcoming, he added, the state must step in.

Later, Miss June Shagaloff, of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the NAACP intended to file appeals to Allen against three communities whose integration plans were considered in a de quate.

She named Port Chester, Buffalo and Roosevelt, N.Y., but gave no details.

Booted From Hearing

NEW YORK (AP)—A Brooklyn Democratic reform leader, expelled from a Moreland Commission hearing on state liquor laws, asserted Friday night that the commission was set up to divert attention from State Liquor Authority corruption.

Eugene Victor, leader of the 21st Assembly District, got the boot from Commission Chairman Lawrence E. Welsh after testifying Friday that the hearings amounted to a "red herring" investigation.

"Go out on the street and make your speeches," Welsh told the witness, "You're not going to make them here."

Victor, directed to "step down" from the witness stand, left the hearing room.

Dries Promoted

Frederick G. Dries Jr. of Newark, N. J., has been promoted to airman first class in the U. S. Air Force.

Airman Dries, son of Mrs. Marjorie Dries of 294 Stuyvesant Avenue, Newark, is assigned to the 366th Armament and Electronic Squadron at Holloman Air Base, New Mexico, as an aircraft radio repairman.

The airman is a graduate of Rahway (N. J.) High School. His father, Frederick Dries, resides in Rosendale.

Javits Assured No Depot Action Till Parley Held

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., says Army Secretary Cyrus Vance had assured him that no action would be taken on the possible closing of the Schenectady, N.Y., Army Depot until after a meeting of Army officials and New York members of Congress.

No time or place was fixed for the meeting, which will probably be held next week. The New York Congressional Steering Committee, of which Javits is a member, asked Vance and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara earlier this week for the meeting.

The Republican senator said Friday he had received about 150 telegrams 50 letters protesting any shutdown of the depot, which employs about 1,600 persons.

Meanwhile, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., said shutdown of the depot would be "a major administration's objectives of trying to nip in the bud any unemployment problems."

Says Polyot Will Study Radiation At High Altitude

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet scientist said today that the new space ship Polyot-1 is the forerunner of vehicles which may be used for building a moon-shot launching platform in space.

The Soviet news agency Tass quoted Prof. Valdimir Dobronravov, a mechanical engineer, as saying that with the perfection of the Polyot space ships "it will be possible to create such spaceships which will solve the task of cosmonauts meeting in outer space."

Such meetings will be necessary in the future, for building big orbital space stations and for manned flights to the moon and other planets," he added.

The new Soviet spacecraft was launched Friday. It is unmanned.

Compared with the Polyot-1, the maneuverability of earlier sputniks and manned spacecrafts was limited, he said.

A Tass science commentator said the Polyot-1 would be used to study radiation belts at various distances from the earth.

He said the space craft could be guided to the same altitude and location several times to provide checks on information gathered.

Grange Favors 21 Drink Age

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP)—The New York State Grange wants the minimum age at which persons can buy alcoholic beverages in the state raised from 18 to 21.

The nearly 1,000 delegates to the organization's annual meeting passed a resolution Friday calling for the increase in the age minimum.

The week-long meeting ended Friday.

Favors Kilts for Britons

LONDON (AP)—Tailor and Cutter—an authority on men's clothes—has advocated the kilt as a national dress for the British male. In its main editorial, the magazine said Friday:

"It's far too good just for Scotsmen. Since the invention of the bicycle, and the wide interbreeding which it made possible, there are few British families untouched by Scottish blood."

Had Premonition Violence Stalked Him, Is Killed

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Joe Tigerman was the prototype of the would-be political boss who never quite became boss. He had a premonition three years ago that someone would gun him down. Friday someone did.

Tigerman, 54, was shot three times as he sat in the office of his used car lot.

The fast-talking Tigerman, a Democratic faction leader, was deep in a political campaign that day three years ago when he suggested to three luncheon companions that he might encounter violence.

He tossed a typewritten statement to one of them and said: "That's my statement in case anything happens to me. I'm hot, brother, I'm hot."

The statement, made public after his death, said in part: "The muscle is on the move, and either they feel this is the big moment or they're scared, and when punks get scared they're too stupid to think things out...."

"They have put out the word to pistol-whip some of the less faithful in line and, in my case, to gun me down...."

"Lately...the threats have been a lot more blunt."

The man who preserved the statement declined identification.

Still on Tigerman's body when two of his automobile salesmen found it were $2, a ruby ring, a diamond ring and a wrist watch.

Tigerman was active in politics in the days of Tom Pendergast and spoke fondly of the city's political boss of the 30s. Pendergast helped him after he pleaded guilty as a youth to two interstate auto theft charges.

Tigerman's penitentiary sentence was suspended.

Every Labor Day Tigerman threw a picnic for Jackson County Democrats and the events always were well attended.

LONDON (AP)—Robert Paris, 14, stricken with infantile paralysis at the age of 1 year, has qualified for his Boy Scout first class badge in London.

When the English lad contracted polio, doctors told his parents he never would be able to sit up. Paralyzed from the hips down, he also has the use of only one hand.

But Robert learned to sit up, and taught himself to walk with the aid of leg irons and crutches. He passed the 50-yard swim, knot-tying and star navigation tests. To climax that, he accomplished the eight-mile hike in six hours.

FOR SUPERVISOR TOWN OF ULSTER

Alexander J. BANYO

Dear Voters of the Town of Ulster:

All of you will go to the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 5th, to vote for a Supervisor of the Town of Ulster. This open letter to you is simply directed at some of the reasons that I feel make me deserving of your vote.

I sincerely feel that my background of experience and education befits me well for assuming the responsibilities connected with the proper and economical management of our Town Government. I have handled the business of the Town, with its growth, in a prompt and efficient manner. I am fully aware of your capabilities to pay taxes, and I have made and will continue to make every effort to "hold the line" on taxes. I shall continue to manage your tax dollars wisely and prudently—providing for all essential services, but promptly rejecting any extravagance, for I know how hard earned your tax dollars are.

My opponent points out that I am a teacher. What he failed to tell you is that he is a full time employee at IBM. I know from my experience that I can properly perform all the duties of the office of Supervisor. If elected, I have every intention of serving my full term—contrary to rumors stating otherwise. My Town Board and I are still proud of the $102,000 surplus of 1962, even though it displeases our opposition. What they failed to tell you is that this surplus was the result of good money management by the Town Board and by me, and it reduced taxes in 1963. I am proud to say that we expect a sizeable surplus again at the end of 1963. At the recent Town preliminary budget meeting my opponent, already a candidate of his party for Supervisor, did not even appear. How interested can he be in managing your tax dollar?

My opponent has never professed to be more capable than I, and yet he clamors for a change—but a change for what? He asks that you exchange my experience for his inexperience; my course of planned action for his campaign promises.

I humbly offer myself as a most fitting candidate for Supervisor. I shall appreciate your support on Election Day, and I pledge to give the Town of Ulster the type of government it expects. Thank you.

Sincerely,
ALEXANDER J. BANYO

One of the remaining two was not arraigned because his attorney was not in court Friday, and the 17th man, who was not identified, has not been arrested.

State Police said the arrests smashed a $2-million-a-year lottery racket. One man, Joseph Decker Sr. of Rochester, has died since the raids took place. The Oneida County grand jury returned no bill against another, Pasquale A. Natarrelli, 52, of Buffalo. Indicted were:

Angelo Thomas, 55, of Utica, alleged kingpin of the lottery; Stephen J. Atwell, 62, of Cheektowaga; Herbert H. Cowles, 57, Watertown; Fred J. Campisano, 52, Niagara Falls; Joseph Decker Jr., 28, Rochester; Joseph Guarneri, 60, Syracuse; Joseph Fusco, 52, Buffalo; Orlando Paone, 38, Rochester; Joseph Rampino, 34, Buffalo; Thaddeus M. Central Drops Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Public Service Commission says the New York Central Railroad has dropped a plan to discontinue operation of its Pacemaker between Buffalo and Albany.

The Central had said it would end Buffalo-Albany service by the Pacemaker on Oct. 27. The PSC ordered retention of the service, pending a hearing scheduled for Nov. 13 in Syracuse.

The PSC said Friday in announcing the railroad's decision that the hearing had been cancelled.

Lunch Programs In City Schools Expand Services

A total of 333,727 lunches were served in 16 schools in the Kingston School District (Consolidated) during the 1962-63 school year. An average of 2200 lunches are being prepared daily in the new central kitchen at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School and transported to 14 schools in the system.

For years the school lunch program has been in operation in the city schools, and under the careful supervision of the directors, the program has expanded steadily.

Mrs. Hazel Vredenburg, formerly Mrs. Cure, Rt. 2, Box 250, Kingston, was in charge of the lunch program in nine city schools for 28 years, and under her supervision the program was developed with the able assistance of a personnel of 26. She was director of the program at the time of her retirement in June, 1955.

Balance on Hand

When she left the post there was a balance of more than $6,500 in the school lunch program account.

Mrs. Vredenburg was succeeded by Mrs. Catherine Ellsworth, who occupied the director's office for some years.

In 1959, John W. Johnson, incumbent director of the school lunch program, was appointed to the post. It was inadvertently reported in a recent article about the program that Johnson assumed the director's duties in 1955.

According to reports, the Board of Education budgeted $28,000 for lunch program expenditures in the late 1950's and early 1960's, but today it is self sustaining and the school board appropriations are made only for major equipment and accessories needed in the department.

The present personnel in the lunch program in the city schools numbers 74.

During the school year of 1962-63 a total of 333,727 lunches were served in 16 of the city's school cafeterias. An average of 2200 lunches are being prepared daily in the new central kitchen. The Kingston High School prepares its own food.

Statistics show that America's schools are operating the world's largest cafeteria business. During the present school year almost 16,000,000 youngsters in 68,000 schools across the country will eat well-balanced noon lunches under this program.

Capitol News in Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

CARRIER: The Navy expects to award the contract for the new conventional carrier approved by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara not later than next May.

A spokesman gave this word today when asked about invitation for bids for carrier No. CVA 67. He added that a decision was made some months ago to build the attack carrier in a private yard.

Congress provided funds for building the carrier a year ago. The Navy subsequently asked McNamara to approve an atomic-powered carrier. A week ago he issued orders to go ahead with a standard-powered carrier.

STATUS OF WOMEN: President Kennedy has set up two groups in and out of government to improve the lot of the nation's women.

By executive orders Friday, the President created a citizens advisory council on the status of women and a special inter-departmental committee to coordinate governmental efforts in the field.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz will head the government group.

MOHOLE: Sen. John O. Pastore, chairman of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, has suggested that Russia and other nations be invited to take part in Project Mohole.

The Rhode Island Democrat expressed the idea during a Senate Appropriations subcommittee's hearing Friday on a request for funds for the project. Mohole, estimated to cost $68 million, calls for drilling holes deep in the ocean bottom to penetrate the earth's mantle and study its core.

Pastore said that since the project's fruits are to be shared by all, other nations might well share in its execution and costs.

HOME BUILDING: Sales of new one-family houses in August were 59,000—6 per cent lower than in July but 16 per cent above a year earlier.

Statistics released by the Census Bureau and the Housing and Home Finance Agency Friday put the medium price of houses sold in August at $18,200.

The number of new homes available for sale at the end of August was 263,000, an increase of about 6 per cent above the previous month.

The census bureau also estimated that for October new private construction amounted to $4.2 billion—2 per cent less than in September.

Health Conference Is Slated Nov. 14

A child health conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, will be held at the Kerhonkson Firehouse, Thursday, Nov. 14 from 1 to 2 p. m.

These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

These are well child clinics for the maintenance of health and prevention of disease, not for the care of the sick child. Children under the regular health supervision of their own physician are not admitted unless the physician desires this service to be taken over by the Child Health Conference. In this manner, duplication of service is avoided, facilitating the work of the private physician.

The "Schwenk Myths" Are Sass' Fables

I. Mr. Sass would have you believe that Mayor Schwenk's 1962 budget was $3.02 higher per thousand of assessed valuation than the Democratic 1961 budget.

What he fails to tell you is that the outgoing Democratic mayor prepared the 1962 budget, and were it not for Mayor Schwenk's downward revisions, the 1962 tax rate increase would have been considerably higher. Incidentally, both Mr. Sass and his running mate fought Mayor Schwenk's downward revisions in the 1962 budget, and cost the taxpayers

Kingston High Harriers Capture Honors in Section 9 Meet

Port Jervis and Highland Falls Also Win Titles

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Kingston High school's talented cross country team captured five of the first eight places to run away from the Class A division of the Section 9 championships yesterday at Bear Mountain.

The DUSO league champions added the sectional laurels to their collection with a final total of 26 points, one of the lowest scores in the history of the running.

Following Kingston came Clarkstown, 51; Middletown, 77; Haverstraw, Stony Point, 98; Spring Valley, 109 and Nyack, 155. Newburgh Free Academy was disqualified.

An upset occurred in the B division as Port Jervis scored 56 points to finish 10 points ahead of second place Tappan-Zee, the pre-race favorite. Monticello was third with 69, followed by Suffern, 92; Monroe-Woodbury, 109; Pearl River, 159 and Ontario, 160.

In Class C, Highland Falls nipped Wallkill for the title with 39 points against 45 for the Ulster County club. After the two were Washingtonville, 56; Rondout Valley, 124; Miniskink Valley, 148; Fallsburgh, 149; New Paltz, 150 and Highland, 202.

Bailey Over Ennis

The expected individual duel between Richard Bailey of Middletown and Dave (Chip) Ennis of Kingston took place and Bailey beat the local ace for a third straight time.

Both boys battled head to head for the first part of the 2.5 mile race. Ennis moved ahead midway through the race but Bailey unleashed his patented closing kick to pull ahead and win by about 40 yards.

The other Kingston runners stayed close to the pace of Ennis and Bailey. George Brocco, a consistent performer all season, was third in 12:10, behind the 11:54 posted by Bailey and the 12:00 produced by Ennis.

Dick Plaatsman, Barry Hogan and Jim Hogan of the championship harrier team, were 6th, 7th and 8th in the race, giving the squad of coach Bob Fitzmaurice the remaining points.

Kinney Wins B

John Kinney, the Port Jervis ace, won the Class B race in 12 minutes, 15 seconds. Ontario's Barry Hopkins made it close but was beaten in the last stages. He finished in 12:30, good for second place. The other runners were far behind.

Frank Wisniewski of Highland Falls was the Class C individual winner in the splendid time of 11:56. Jim Dolan, the unbeaten star from Wallkill, was second but he was 16 seconds off the pace, finishing in 12:12.

The championship teams in each class plus the top seven finishers from other schools will compete in the State Meet, slated Nov. 11 at Bear Mountain. The meet will get underway at 10 a. m.

Giants Are in St. Louis Sunday For Key Eastern Division Tilt

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The battle for second place in the National Football League's eastern division will swing one way or the other tomorrow when the New York Giants invade Busch Stadium here to meet the St. Louis Cardinals.

Kickoff time is 2:05 P. M. (EST) and the game will be carried back to the New York metropolitan area by CBS-TV (Channel 2) and WNEW Radio. Additionally, the Giant Radio Network will beam a play-by-play account to 60 stations in eight eastern states.

The Giants and Cardinals bring identical 5-2 records into their mid-season showdown battle, and both trail the front-running Cleveland Browns (6-1) by a full game with seven games remaining to be played.

For the Giants, this will be their second straight meeting with a red-hot eastern contender. Last week the Maramen handed the Browns their first setback of the year, 33-6, and now they encounter a sizzling St. Louis club that leads the NFL in total offense and boasts several of the league's outstanding individual performers.

Offense Leader

St. Louis, with young quarterback Charlie Johnson leading the way, has gained 2,744 yards in seven games to lead in total offense. The Cards are first in yards gained passing with 1,728 and have rushed for 1,016.

Johnson has thrown for 1,779 yards with 114 completions in 213 tries, and 13 have gone for touchdowns. Bobby Joe Conrad leads the team in receptions with 44 for 547 yards, while Sonny Randle has 26 catches for 571 yards.

The 70 catches between Conrad and Randle are the most in the league by any pair of receivers, and if they continue at their present pace they should easily top the 126 by Tom Fears (84) and Elroy Hirsch (42) of the Los Angeles Rams in 1950.

But the Cards are more than just a passing team; they can move the ball on the ground too. Joe Childress (103 for 398 yards) is the fifth best rusher in the NFL, and young Bill Triplett is seventh with 65 for 339 yards.

The St. Louis defense is sound at every position. The secondary of halfbacks Pat Fisher and Jimmy Hill and safeties Larry Wilson and rookie Jerry Stovall has permitted only three touchdowns by passes all season, a remarkable achievement in the pass-happy pro circuit.

A Stern Test

This secondary unit will be a stern test for Giant quarterback Y.A. Tittle, chief engineer of the defeat of Cleveland and presently the NFL's top passer with 107 completions in 176 attempts for 1,423 yards, a 60.8 percentage and 16 TDs.

Last week, Tittle's accurate aerials to Del Shofner, Joe Walton and Aaron Thomas loosened up the Browns' defense suffi-

Army Squashers List 14 Matches

WEST POINT — First-meeting appearances with Dickinson and Seton Hall are included among the 14 matches scheduled for Army's 1963-64 squash team, according to the schedule released by Col. Raymond P. Murphy, director of athletics.

Army, under new coach Bill Cullen, will launch the season Dec. 7 with Harvard, the defending national champions. Harvard, along with Princeton and Yale, were the only teams to beat Army last year.

The Cadets will play a total of eight matches at home, the remaining six away from West Point. They complete the season Feb. 29 at home with arch-rival Navy.

Cullen replaces Lief Nordlie, who resigned this summer to accept a professional tennis position in Oakhurst, N. J.

The schedule:
Dec. 7, Harvard, home.
Jan. 11, Princeton, away; 15, Williams, home; 18, Cornell, home; 24, M.I.T., away; 25, Dartmouth, away.
Feb. 1, Yale, home; 7, Dickinson, away; 8, Trinity, away; 12, Wesleyan, home; 15, Seton Hall, home; 19, Amherst, home; 22, Penn., away; 29, Navy, home.

ciently for the Giant ground attack to hit its peak. With Cleveland deployed to stop the pass, Alex Webster and Hugh McElhenry both punched out 53 yards and Phil King got 49 in an overall total of 182 yards.

Coach Al Sherman hopes the pattern will hold for tomorrow's game with St. Louis. A balanced pass-run attack has a better chance of success against the solid Cardinal defense.

Walton, injured against the Browns, is expected to be available for at least part-time service this weekend. If Joe can't play, however, Thomas will move into tight end and Frank Gifford will play the flanker spot.

St. Louis quarterback Johnson will find no soft touch with the Giants' pass defense. A solid rush by the front four of Andy Robustelli, John LoVetere, Dick Modzelewski and Jim Kautcavage made life miserable for Cleveland quarterback Frank Ryan last week.

And when Ryan did have time to throw, he usually found his receivers well blanketed by Dick Lynch, Erich Barnes, Jim Patton and Allan Webb.

Lynch currently leads the league in interceptions with five, and two of these he has returned for touchdowns.

This is the last road game for the Giants for the next month. After the St. Louis game, the Maramen return to Yankee Stadium for three contests — against Philadelphia Nov. 10, San Francisco, Nov. 17 and St. Louis Nov. 24.

Geisberger Leads Almaden Tourney

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—

Credit a young girl for Al Geisberger's excellent showing the past three weeks on the professional golfing circuit.

The little lady is Lee Ann Geisberger, seven-week old daughter of Al, the midway leader in the $25,000 Almaden Open.

"I took five weeks off the tour while the baby was coming and after she got here," says Al. "So now I have to make up for lost time."

Lanky Al, 26-year-old graduate of the University of Southern California, tied for second at the Sahara Invitation in Las Vegas two weeks ago and sank a 15-foot birdie putt at the 72nd hole to get a deadlock for second at last week's Fresno Open.

He banked $7,300 for that two weeks' work and is now after the $3,500 top prize for the four-day chase over the 7,045-yard, par 36-36-72 Almaden Golf and Country Club course.

A 35-34-67 Friday coupled with Thursday's 69 put him at 136, a stroke ahead of Bob Rosburg and Jim Ferree.

Big Game Hunting Season Opens in Northern Counties

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The big-game hunting season opened in Northern New York today and small-game hunting may be resumed in other areas in the wake of Gov. Rockefeller's order reopening the state's woodlands for recreational use.

However, seven counties in the Lower Hudson Valley and Southern Catskills still remain closed to most types of hunting.

The opening of the big-game season, originally set for Oct. 25, and other hunting seasons were curtailed by an Oct. 13 order closing the woods.

May Extend Season

Harold G. Wilms, conservation commissioner said Friday an effort would be made to extend the various seasons to make up for days lost because of the ban which resulted from the month-long drought and attendant forest-fire hazard.

The commissioner said details of the extensions had not been worked out, except for duck-hunting on Long Island. That season, scheduled to end today, will be extended to Nov. 16.

Shooting hours for big and small game are 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. Duck hunting is permitted from sunrise to sunset.

Ulster, Sullivan, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Dutchess and Westchester counties were excluded from the reopening because the fire-danger remained.

In those counties, fishing, duck-hunting and other recreational activities will be permitted from boats or blinds entirely surrounded by water, if the waters are accessible by roads

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The United States took a 2-0 lead over India in the interzone Davis Cup tennis finals Saturday as Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston scored straight set victories in the opening two singles matches.

McKinley, the Wimbledon champion, defeated Premjit Lall 6-4, 6-3, 6-0 in the first match and Ralston then beat India's top-ranked player, Ram-anathan Krishnan, 6-4, 6-1, 13-11 in the second match to give the United States a sweep of the opening singles.

The winner of the best-of-5 series will qualify to meet Australia, holder of the Davis Cup, in the Challenge Round at Adelaide, Australia, Dec. 26-28.

A victory in the doubles Sunday would clinch the interzone finals for America. McKinley and Ralston will form the United States' doubles team. The Indians' doubles combination still is undetermined.

The final two singles matches will take place Monday. Ralston will oppose Lall in the opening match with McKinley pitted against Krishnan in the final match.

A crowd of 5,300 jammed the Cricket Club of India Stadium for the opening day matches played on the slow clay court in 93-degree, humid heat.

Quarterback Babe Parilli hooked up with Larry Garrison on a 76-yard touchdown pass play which rocked the visitors' back on their heels early. Parilli then added two short scoring runs.

San Diego's Western Division leaders are at New York Saturday night. The remainder of the action is listed for Sunday afternoon with Buffalo at Denver and Kansas City at Oakland.

Overtrick Choice To Win Messenger

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—

Overtrick, hailed by many as the greatest pacer ever to trot a race track, bids for his 12th sub-two-minute mile of the year tonight when he faces seven other 3-year-olds in the $146,324-7 Messenger Stakes at Roosevelt Raceway.

Since Star Pointer turned in the first official two-minute mile in 1897, over 600 trotters and pacers have carved out efforts of 2:00 or better. Of these, only three have come close to approaching the fabulous total of the son of Solicitor, owned by Mrs. Leonard J. Buck of Far Hills, N.J.

Two of Overtrick's rivals tonight are among those who have been under the magic barrier and each holds at least one decision over Mrs. Buck's great sidewheeler.

Meadow Skipper, from Norman Woolworth's Clearview Stables of Winthrop, Maine, paced a world record of 1:55-1/5 for a mile track in beating Overtrick at Lexington, Ky., after taking a decision over him earlier in the season in the Cane Futurity at Yonkers Raceway.

The Canadian-owned Country Don, carrying the hopes of Andre Mercue and Roger Garon, stepped a mile over Liberty Belle's three-quarter-mile oval in 1:57-4/5 with Meadow Skipper second and Overtrick fifth.

Other harness activity Friday night:

Roosevelt—Elma ($820) put on a burst of speed in the stretch and won by a neck over A.C.'s Viking in the $7,000 Invitational Trot. The time was 2:05-3/5 over a muddy track. Great Pleasure finished third.

Batavia — Proud Yankee ($330) captured the $2,500 featured trot in 2:08-4/5. Kintoo Colby was second and Grace Grost, third.

Saratoga — Julian's Away ($10.50) scored a nose victory over Little Victor in the $1,000 Cleveland Trot. The time was 2:09-3/5. Madam's Stars Pride finished third.

His 38-yard scoring sprint with a pass he took out of Will Dewveall's hands clinched the decision which knotted the teams at 5-4 each.

Suci, a Michigan State alum, was cut by the Oilers just before the season started. He asked Ivy's advice about his future.

"Why don't you give Boston a call?" Ivy told him. "Coach Mike Holovak needs a defensive back. He's just lost Don Webb."

Boston grabbed Suci and put him at safety. He was switched to corner back for Houston, however.

The Patriots intercepted six passes in the game, two short of the AFL record but returned them for a new total mark of 201 yards. The previous interception yardage mark of 194 yards was set by San Diego again Houston two years ago.

The blitzing Boston defense also recovered two Oiler fumbles and held Houston to a mere 19 yards rushing.

Quarterback Babe Parilli hooked up with Larry Garrison on a 76-yard touchdown pass play which rocked the visitors' back on their heels early. Parilli then added two short scoring runs.

San Diego's Western Division leaders are at New York Saturday night. The remainder of the action is listed for Sunday afternoon with Buffalo at Denver and Kansas City at Oakland.

Cub Scout Pack 19

The October meeting of Cub Scout Pack 19 was held recently at the V.F.W. home on Delaware Avenue. The opening was given by Den 1 under the direction of Mrs. Jean Long with the Cubs giving a symbolic meaning for each of the letters in the word America.

The following awards were presented by Cubmaster Ted Barten.

Bobcats — Thomas Long, Daniel Brown and Joseph Brown; Wolf badge — Richard Ralf; Bear badge and gold and silver arrow of Wolf badge to Emmett Gordon; Lion badge with gold and silver arrow to David Kordzikowski; one year service and one year perfect attendance bar to Gary Barten.

Announcements were made that the next committee meeting will be held at Mrs. Radcliffe's home, 349 Clifton Avenue on Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 7 p. m. and that the new Den Mothers will start their Den meetings on Nov. 4. There will be a Cub training session at the Fair Street Reformed Church at 7:45 p. m. on Wednesday evenings Nov. 6, 13, and 20.

The theme of the month "Make Believe" was observed in the form of a Halloween party under the direction of Den mother Jean Long. Ribbons were awarded for costumes in different categories and games were played.

The closing was given by Den 3 and refreshments served.

Hyatt Disagrees With Water Board

Donald R. Hyatt, former president of the Kingston Water Board, in a letter to The Freeman today, reports he disagrees with recent actions of the board.

Hyatt's letter follows:

I read with great surprise and dismay the recent press release of the Kingston Water Board. They have done a complete about face to the detriment of the best interests of the people of Kingston—who now, certainly, must have lost complete confidence in them.

I must publicly disagree with their actions.

I quote from the release of the Kingston Water Board to the Kingston Daily Freeman of Dec. 7, 1962 for my reasons:

"In 1959 the board under the presidency of the late Howard Pangburn, authorized its consulting engineers to begin a detailed study of the Kingston Water System, this was last done in 1927 by the same firm of engineers. This report was completed in December 1961. The entire year 1962 has been devoted to detailed study by the commissioners in conjunction with the engineers of the report to determine the best way to start the recommended improvements.

Agreed on Plan

Water Board President Donald Hyatt, Superintendent Edmund T. Cloonan together with Assistant Secretary Edwin L. Wetterhahn met with Mayor John J. Schwenk and Corporation Counsel Harry Gold and at this time the mayor was informed of the intention of the board in asking for the bond issue. He expressed no opposition to it. This was at a special meeting.

I was then president of that Board and I can say that we went over the plans of Clinton Bogert, specialists in this field, with a fine tooth comb. Each of the commissioners were in agreement that this plan was needed now for a better tomorrow for Kingston.

Why even the Republicans in the council recognized the need and I now quote from the text of Alderman Meyers, expressing not only the Republican position but Mayor Schwenk's position as of that date as reported in the Kingston Daily Freeman of December 5, 1962.

Myers said:

"I'd like to make it clear that the Republican minority members of the council recognize the need for enlarging the capacity of our municipal water storage facilities, of insuring the future purity of our water through modernization of our out-dated filter plant, and of improving the water flow to all parts of our city so that all residents may be assured of adequate fire protection. Nor are we opposed to guaranteeing a bond issue to accomplish these goals.

Timetable Differences

Our differences with the water board and our Democrat associates in the council lie in the timetable of the proposed improvement plan."

It was then the policy of the Kingston Water Board as expressed in our release of December 7, 1962 above referred to and I quote:

"The Kingston Board of Water Commissioners have always considered themselves above partisan politics and will not be drawn into a political situation either now or in the future."

Alderman Sass led the fight for this needed water improvement Bond issue a year ago. His sentiments, fortunately, have not changed. The future growth of the city is at stake, nothing else.

From my first hand experience as a commissioner of the water board and thorough study of the plan of Clinton Bogert, specialists in the field, I agree with Alderman Sass and the opinion of the Republican Party and Mayor Schwenk as then expressed in the Republican statement of December 5, 1962 quoted above that the improvements are needed now.

I regret that this board has now taken a partisan position to the detriment of all of us.

Business Week in Review

By ROGER LANE

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A tide of rosy third-quarter corporate profit reports rolled across the nation's business scene during the week.

Could Be Record Year

By one reckoning, earnings of more than 500 large corporations ran 15 per cent ahead of the 1962 September quarter, and stamped 1963 as a record high year — barring a cataclysmic reversal in the final two months.

They were estimated at an annual rate of about $26.1 billion in the July-September period, well above the existing full-year record of $24.6 set in 1962.

Major contributions to the up-trend came from the steel industry, a weak sister last year, and from the automobile, airlines, chemical, electric-electronics groups, and several others.

General Motors Corp., continuing to set a blazing pace, posted an historic earnings high for the first nine months, with profits topping $1 billion. Ford Motor Co. faltered a bit, however.

The earnings surge had many ramifications, including important ones in Washington, where tax cut and budget struggles inched along.

Treasury Secretary Douglas

Dillon told the House Ways and Means Committee that healthy business profits helped swell federal tax collections and shrink budgetary deficit prospects.

Deficit May Drop

Dillon said the present outlook is for a $9-billion deficit for the fiscal year ending next June 30, rather than the $11.9-billion deficit anticipated earlier. Tax revenues appear likely to be $1.9 billion higher than last January's estimate, he said.

A note of dissent to widespread optimism over business prospects ahead was struck by department and variety store proprietors. Polled by a trade group, less than one-half looked for better Christmas season sales this year than last.

The pessimists blamed this year's five fewer shopping days between Thanksgiving and Christmas, and an unseasonably warm autumn.

Auto Lines Booming

Assembly lines in the booming auto industry kept running lickety-split. In the busiest week since mid-1955, nearly 184,000 cars were produced.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics in Washington reported the cost-of-living index held steady in September for a second straight month, and said it probably would do so again in October.

Responding partly to lush profit reports, the stock market bounded to another all time high at the start of the week in heavy trading before falling back a bit under profit-taking pressures.

Sales on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 28,722,840, down slightly from the previous week's volume of 30,346,801. Bond sales, however, were up. Volume for the week was $24,624,000 par value as compared with the previous week's total of $21,801,000.

NEW TOP—Actress Bette Davis, doyenne of the silver screen, normally is a brunette. However, she's changed to a blonde for her role in "The Empty Canvas," being filmed in Rome.

WHY THE STALLING MR. MOLYNEAUX?

Let's lift the smoke screen on Woodstock's application for a free sewage survey and tell the public the truth.

The current Republican Party platform says: "An application is on file for State and Federal funds to conduct a survey of Woodstock's sewage and pollution."

Eighteen months ago, on April 17, 1962, the Woodstock Town Board authorized you to take all necessary steps pursuant to a local, state-financed sewage survey.

Since your recent public declaration that an application has been filed:

AUGUSTUS BRINNIE of Brinnier and Larios, the town's consulting engineers, said on Oct. 28: "Application for a Woodstock sewage study grant has not been filed."

EDWARD KENDRICK, Senior Sanitary Engineer, Bureau of Water Resources, New York State Health Department, on Oct. 28, said: "There is no application on file in this office for the Town of Woodstock Sewage survey."

FREDERICK WADNOLA, Junior Public Health Engineer, Ulster County Board of Health, on Oct. 29, said: "There is no application for a Woodstock survey on file in this office."

A letter dated Oct. 26, 1963, from Brinnier and Larios to you states that as of Oct. 15 this year: "we are now engaged in preparing the proposal which we must submit, with the approval of the Town Board, through Mr. Edinger to the New York State Health Department for their review and approval."

HOW CAN THE WOODSTOCK APPLICATION BE "ON FILE" if the preliminary investigation has not been completed?

WHY THE 18-MONTHS DELAY?

Eighteen months have elapsed since the Town Board gave you a mandate to press for this vitally important, free sewage survey for the Town of Woodstock. During that time, 26 communities in New York State, including the Town of Ulster, have received grants totalling $1,854,011 for sewage surveys.

(Town of Ulster applied Jan. 8, 1963; grant was approved April 12 and became effective Sept. 12).

Why have you been stalling on a matter so crucial to the health and welfare of the citizens of Woodstock?

VOTERS OF WOODSTOCK

Vote for Charles J. Tiano, Democratic candidate for Supervisor — a proven executive with a brilliant record of achievement — a man who has the political courage and ability to:

- 1) Promote effective Town Planning — which has been virtually abandoned by the Republican Town Board.
- 2) Establish a municipal refuse dump — which is being resisted by vested interests in the Republican Party.
- 3) Demand strict and periodic financial accounting by the highway department.
- 4) Establish a Park Commission for the care and development of town owned lands for park and recreational purposes.
- 5) Restore Town Hall as the real community center of Woodstock.
- 6) Promote a comprehensive recreational program for the youth, teenagers and adults of the township.
